Seize Roads Leading Into Large City

Havana — Rebel leader Fidel Castro carried his guerrilla war against the Cuban government to the gates of the big sugar shipping port of Manzanillo today.

In a bold move, Castro sent heavily armed patrols swarming down from his hideout in the Sierra Maestra mountains and seized control of stretches of highways leading into the city.

Tense excitement gripped Manzanillo. Residents feared a major clash between Castro's forces and Cuban army troops was imminent.

Rebels stopped all automobiles, buses and trucks attempting to leave and enter Manzanillo, a city of 100,000 in the southwestern corner of Oriente province.

The rebels searched all cars for prominent Cuban politicians or army officers whom Castro has marked for death as "enemies of the Cuban people."

Most vehicles were permitted to proceed. Others were driven off by the rebels and burned, and some passengers taken prisoner.

Trains Attacked
Simultaneously rebel units attacked passenger trains, held up buses bound for Havana or Santiago de Cuba, raided and burned rice mills and sugar cane fields.

Dispatches from Manzanillo said the roads in that area are practically dominated by Castro's forces. Informants in Manzanillo added that at some points rebels were within five minutes of the heart of the city.

Cuban army headquarters in Oriente and Havana maintained silence on the developments. One government source expressed the opinion Castro was being given "enough rope to hang himself."

This source said the government was hoping Castro's guerrillas would continue to swarm down from their mountain hideouts and concentrate around Manzanillo since the army long has been awaiting a chance to destroy them in open battle.

Rep. Andresen of Minnesota Dies

Washington — Rep. August H. Andresen, 67, of Minnesota died early today at the nearby Bethesda Naval hospital.

A Republican, Andresen was first elected to congress in 1923. He was a member of the house agriculture committee.

Andresen was admitted to the hospital Dec. 1 for treatment of an intestinal disorder. He apparently was making a good recovery but suffered a heart attack at 10:30 last night and died shortly after midnight.

Articles to Tell About Aid to Other Nations

One of the major challenges of the cold war is developing on the economic front — involving the support and allegiance of the world's underdeveloped countries. In hopes of offsetting Russia's intensified efforts, the United States is tentatively planning an increase in its technical aid program overseas.

Are those plans adequate? What has been the effect of our technical aid so far?

AP Foreign News Analyst William Ryan has written an informative, 4-part series based on a world-wide Associated Press survey. It indicates that the U. S. technical assistance projects, begun under President Truman as Point Four and continued in the Eisenhower administration under the international cooperation administration, have been a great success.

The series begins today on Page 24.

Controlling Shares In FWD May be Sold To St. Louis Firm

Paradynamics Expected to Get
Majority Stock Block in Few Days

Clintonville — Controlling interest in the Four Wheel Drive Auto company is expected to be sold within a few days to Paradynamics, Inc., St. Louis, Mo.

It was announced today by Franklin Lyons, chairman of the board of directors at the annual stockholders meeting. The contemplated sale would involve purchase of 151,000 shares of FWD stock by Paradynamics. Four Wheel Drive has 300,000 shares of stock outstanding. Last quotation had the stock at $11 a share.

Lyons said one of the factors in the sale was assurance by Paradynamics, officials that FWD operations will be continued at Clintonville where the company was organized in 1910.

Wanted To Sell
"It is no secret my associates and I who hold controlling interest in Four Wheel Drive Auto company have wanted to sell this interest to others who can carry on the operation of the company in the direction of growth and expansion which has been started in these last few years."

"We recently have met and talked at length with a group of individuals with exceptionally intriguing ideas for the future of FWD. They comprise an organization which has a wealth of technological as well as business know-how. We have heard what they have in mind for FWD and believe their plans would be good for the company and for Clintonville. Of major importance to us, the organization has assured us it intends to continue FWD operations in Clintonville."

Lyons, Olen Relected
Lyons and Robert A. Olen, president, were reelected to 3-year terms on the board of directors. John P. Boynton was elected to finish the unexpired term of Arthur S. Bowes, who resigned in November of last year.

Walter Graham, Chicago, at noon was opposed by Philip T. Collins, Cruttennden Podesta and Company, a Chicago investment house which holds 30,000 shares in proxies.

Proposes Bid To Entire UN On Space Issue

Johnson in Favor
Of Joint Control
As Peace Outpost

Washington — Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Texas) proposed today that the United States invite all members of the United Nations — including Russia — to seek control of space jointly as an "outpost of peace."

Johnson, the senate Democratic leader, called for an international exchange of scientific information first before starting this "adventure into outer space together."

"The dimensions of space dwarf our national differences on earth," he said. "If we are to win space as the outpost of peace, all man may — and should — share in that endeavor."

"Ahead, if we move with speed, if we move with daring, we shall find fulfillment of our quest for peace. If we are to reach such a goal, our response must begin now. This, more than we realize, is the year of decision, the year our course is set."

Would Form Agency
Johnson, who heads the senate preparedness subcommittee inquiring into the missile and satellite program, said at a meeting of Columbia Broadcasting System affiliates he hopes congress establishes a "proper agency" to direct a bold program to conquer space.

President Eisenhower has directed formation of a space agency within the defense department. But Johnson has made it clear he does not believe the administration is putting enough emphasis on satellite production.

To gain outer space, Johnson said, the U. S. must "remove the fetters of tradition from our policy."

"First and foremost," he said, "I believe we are paying too high a price for conformity."

"America's vigor has come from the originality, the freshness, the vision of our people — all our people, not merely an intellectual elite. For a decade now, we have been growing a climate of contempt for these values. We are paying a price for that."

"Our investigating committee has found, in some most striking examples, that this has been at the heart of some of our preparedness difficulties."

9 Die in Crash Of Naval Plane

Transport Burns
After Smashup at Station in Maryland

Patuxent, Md. — A giant navy transport plane, trying to make an instrument landing at fog-shrouded Patuxent Naval Air station, crashed and burned today killing all nine crewmen aboard.

The R7V four-engine Super-constellation made one pass at the runway and was waved off, witnesses said. On its second approach, it started in short of the runway and slightly to the left.

Again it was waved off. The pilot apparently tried to gun the engines to gain altitude, but the plane clipped treetops as it started to rise and went out of control a hundred feet or so from a housing area for married enlisted personnel.

Fire Burns 2 Hours
The plane roared through a patch of trees for a quarter-mile before smashing the ground and exploding with a tremendous roar.

The resulting fire burned for nearly two hours before it was brought under control shortly after 10 a. m.

U. S. Airmen Plan
For Pay Increase

Washington — The White House today made public the administration's general plans for a $1,053,000,000 annual increase in federal workers' salaries.

In his budget message to congress yesterday, the president said the salary hikes are necessary to attract and retain trained personnel the government needs to carry out national defense and other activities.

The petition was circulated by an American Nobel prize winner, Dr. Linus Pauling, who for a -ummit conference, said he felt it "represents the opinion of a majority of the scientists of the world."

Some international problems through negotiation.

"It is now for the leaders of the western powers to give their word," it said. "People are waiting for a clear answer to it."

Reds Assail Ike for 'War Budget' Goals

Charge Figures Indicate He Wants Another Arms Race

Moscow — The Soviet press said today President Eisenhower submitted a war budget to congress.

Pravda, Izvestia and other Moscow morning newspapers gave prompt reaction to the president's budget message under the headlines: "Another Arms Race Budget."

Pravda carried a Tass news agency dispatch from Washington stressing military expenditures. It said individual taxpayers must meet 52 per cent of the budget "while corporations who profit most pay only 27 per cent."

In a dispatch from its Washington correspondent, Izvestia said that "though the budget message weighed four pounds it can be summed up in two words, 'War Budget'."

Nothing on Letter
Izvestia said it was the man in the street "who must bear the terrific weight of this new tax burden."

It added: "This spending, the budget would be in balance when the year ends and the treasury would show a surplus of half a billion dollars."

Congress to Seek Cuts in Civil Items

Washington — The specter of deficit spending and continued high taxes haunted Capitol Hill today in the wake of President Eisenhower's peacetime record $73,900,000,000 federal budget proposal.

Congressional reaction, both public and private, was that the fiscal picture painted by the president in his annual budget message yesterday was anything but bright. But congress had not expected a rosy report in the light of current defense needs.

There was little doubt that congress would approve all or most of the $39,800,000,000 outlay projected for the defense department. More argument was expected over non-defense spending proposals in an effort to widen the narrow gap between expected spending and expected revenue during the coming fiscal year.

Hearings Open Jan. 27
Even as it put the finishing touches on an emergency $1,260,000,000 defense fund, a house defense appropriation subcommittee called hearings for Jan. 27 on the military budget for the year starting July 1.

Subcommittee Chairman Mahon (D-Texas) called the new military budget "conservative insofar as ballistic missiles and other weapons of the future are concerned."

It might even have to be increased, Mahon added.

Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Texas), chairman of the senate's preparedness subcommittee, promised a careful look to "determine whether it is adequate to strengthen the nation's security."

The general attitude among the legislators appeared to be that so far as security is concerned, the sky is the limit.

Support Indicated
As Chairman Cannon (D-Mo) of the full house appropriations committee put it: "All of the increase for national defense is fully justified and will have the support of congress."

There was some skepticism in Eisenhower's estimate that despite heavier defense spending, the budget would be in balance when the year ends and the treasury would show a surplus of half a billion dollars.

Some members noted that the administration had expected a "each nuclear said that of 22 per cent for civil budget surplus this year only to bomb test. . . benefits $5 billion goes to vet-see it fade into a small deficit causes d a m-erans, part of which is to aid in the face of declining tax col-lection and higher spending."

Chairman Byrd (D-Va) of the senate finance committee called the new budget "reckless" and "likely to lead to substantial deficit spending with all of its evil consequences."

Doubts Revenue Gain
Byrd noted that Eisenhower based his projected surplus for fiscal 1959 on an expected increase of $2 billion in revenues plus an additional $700 million from still-stymied postal rate increases.

"In view of the present declining business 'cycle,'" Byrd said, "I believe a drop in tax revenue is more likely than an increase."

Rep. Reed of New York, senior Republican on the house ways and means committee, also called the estimates of receipts "somewhat optimistic."

As for the president's request to boost the rate for mailing out-of-town letters from 3 to 5 cents, Chairman Johnston (D-SC) of the senate post office committee called it "too

Unemployment Up During December

Auto Industry's Big Three Has Dim View of UAW Plan

Reuther's Profit-Sharing Proposal Meets Opposition From Leaders, 'Minority Group' Within Own Union

Detroit — P. Leaders of the auto industry's big three—Ford, Chrysler and General Motors—have greeted Walter Reuther's profit-sharing plan with a "dim view," according to a sharp UAW spokesman. "You can bet there will be plenty of opposition to the idea on the floor of the convention," a Ford spokesman said. "The UAW will convene Jan. 22 to give formal approval to a realistic, union's goals in 1958 bargaining sessions."

Stellato, one of the chief opponents of Reuther in the 1957 election, said the plan is "foreign to the concept of the American free enterprise system." L. L. Colburn, president of Chrysler, said industry and union are "inflationary."

For a different reason, the United Auto Workers union weeks ago but chief also appears headed for opposition from within his own union.

The reason, says Carl Stellato, is that Reuther turned his back on demanding a shorter work week in favor of trying for a profit-sharing plan in this summer's bargaining sessions.

Stellato, president of Ford local 600, the largest local in the UAW, said: "You can bet there will be plenty of opposition to the idea on the floor of the convention."

A Ford spokesman said the UAW will convene Jan. 22 to give formal approval to a realistic, union's goals in 1958 bargaining sessions.

Reuther's plan is going to be a "minority" plan, he said, "providing more, rather than fewer jobs" by pressing for a shorter work week.

Reuther's plan, announced yesterday after sessions with the UAW's 200-man steering committee, would give employees 25 percent of a company's profits above 10 percent of net capital before taxes. Another 25 percent would go to car buyers in the form of rebates. The rest—50 percent—would be kept by the company.

If the plan had been in effect the last 10 years, the UAW chief said, employees of General Motors would have made an average of $600 more a year.

General Motors has 500,000 hourly rated employees.

Reuther said wage increases he named no figure—also will be sought at bargaining sessions scheduled to start about April 1. Assembly plant workers now average about $2.40 an hour.

Ernest R. Breech, Ford board chairman, said the union's proposal would be given "weighty consideration" but he said the plan was "unrealistic."

Kill-The-Profits

He termed it a "complicated kill-the-profits plan" which he said "strikes at the very roots of the economic system that has made and kept America strong."

Curtice said, "it is unfortunate that these extravagant demands should come at a time when public confidence needs to be reaffirmed as a basis for an upturn in the economy."

"The chances would vastly improve if, instead of announcing such extreme demands, the union would base its bargaining objectives on the economic realities the nation faces today, not only here at home but abroad," Curtice said.

Colbert said Reuther "proposes, in effect, to fight inflation by making a whole series of new inflationary demands upon the automobile industry."

Laird Dairy Program May End Subsidies

Proposed Legislation Backed by Various Farm Organizations

Washington — P. A self-help dairy stabilization program designed to end federal subsidy payments was prepared by Rep. Laird (R-Wis) for introduction Wednesday.

He said this program, if adopted, would assure the nation's dairy farmers a minimum price of $3.86 a hundred pounds for milk used in manufactured dairy products.

This type of milk is currently supported by the federal government at $3.25 a hundred pounds, or about 83 percent of parity. Secretary of Agriculture Benson has announced that on April 1 supports will be cut to 75 percent.

$300 Million Saved

Laird said if his legislation is enacted it will save federal payments of more than $300 million a year.

He said the proposed legislation has the backing of the National Grange, the National Milk Producers Federation, Farmers Union, National Conference of Commodity Organizations and the Wisconsin Farm Bureau.

At Madison Wisconsin Farm Bureau headquarters denied it was supporting Laird's bill.

Not Supporters

William Kasakaitas, federation secretary, said his organization had not seen Laird's bill and was not supporting it. He said the federation was not committed to a plan as proposed by Laird but did not rule out supporting such a proposal in the future.

"As of now, at least, we're not supporting Rep. Laird's plan," Kasakaitas said.

The program would become effective if approved in a nationwide referendum of dairy farmers to be held in September, 1958. It would replace the present federal support program which has been in operation for eight years.

The program would be administered by a dairy stabilization board of 15 members selected by dairy farmers. It would be financed by a single assessment of not to exceed 25 cents a hundred pounds on all milk and butterfat marketed.

Reuther's plan, announced yesterday after sessions with the UAW's 200-man steering committee, would give employees 25 percent of a company's profits above 10 percent of net capital before taxes. Mother Will Have One Final Visit With Son

Hong Kong — P. An American mother in a sad voice said today she would see her son imprisoned in red China once more before she leaves Saturday for the United States.

Mrs. Ruth Redmond of Yonkers, N.Y., spoke by telephone from Shanghai, where her son Hugh, is serving a life sentence on espionage charges.

Third Visit

Mrs. Redmond and her son met today for 24 hours. It was their third visit together since she and two other mothers of Americans held by the reds arrived in China last week.

The Yonkers woman said she would see her son again for the last time Thursday. To repeated questions whether she had made an attempt to appeal for his release, she said again and again, "I can't hear you."

Jury Trial Ordered for Carlos Moreno

Spanish-Speaking Waukesha Man Held For Murder, Assault

Waukesha — P. Circuit Court Judge William E. Gramling Monday ordered a jury trial for 21-year-old Carlos Moreno, charged with killing two men in a tavern stickup, after Moreno changed his plea from guilty to innocent through an interpreter.

The Spanish-speaking Moreno is charged with two counts of third degree murder and one of assault in the Sept. 28 holdup of Wonderland tavern in DuPlainville.

When Moreno and his attorney, Glenn R. Davis, first appeared before Judge Gramling, Davis entered guilty pleas for his client to the charges growing out of the holdup.

Judge Gramling then asked Moreno himself how he pleaded. The Waukesha man replied through an interpreter: "I don't know if I am guilty of the murders. That is something I can't say."

The judge ordered innocent pleas entered to the charges. Earlier, Moreno had pleaded guilty to a charge of robbing Saddy's tavern in Waukesha Aug. 12. Judge Gramling said he will withhold sentence on the plea pending the jury trial.

Killed during the DuPlainville holdup were Harvey Pajani, 39, DuPlainville, and Harold Keller, 46, Waukesha. Other patrons overpowered the gunman after he had taken $105 from the till.

Reuther's plan, announced yesterday after sessions with the UAW's 200-man steering committee, would give employees 25 percent of a company's profits above 10 percent of net capital before taxes. Another 25 percent would go to car buyers in the form of rebates. The rest—50 percent—would be kept by the company.

If the plan had been in effect the last 10 years, the UAW chief said, employees of General Motors would have made an average of $600 more a year.

General Motors has 500,000 hourly rated employees.

Reuther said wage increases he named no figure—also will be sought at bargaining sessions scheduled to start about April 1. Assembly plant workers now average about $2.40 an hour.

Ernest R. Breech, Ford board chairman, said the union's proposal would be given "weighty consideration" but he said the plan was "unrealistic."

Film Magnate's Widow Accepts $9,000 a Month

Los Angeles — P. The widow of Louis B. Mayer has accepted a $9,000 monthly allowance from the film producer's $10 million estate.

Opera Conductor Collapses During Verdi Program

New York — P. Conductor Pietro Cimara collapsed and toppled from the podium before a capacity audience of more than 3,600 at the Metropolitan opera last night. He was reported in critical condition today at St. Clare's hospital.

The hospital said the 68-year-old Italian-born conductor had suffered a "cerebral (brain) accident."

No further diagnosis was given.

Cimara, who was conducting at the Metropolitan last night for the first time this season, was stricken just after the curtain rose on the second scene of the first act of Verdi's tragic opera, "La Forza Del Destino."

Members of the orchestra noticed that the conductor was unable to lead. Some one in the orchestra whispered to Walter Hagen at the first desk of the second violins, "Get on the podium."

Hagen, 37, stepped up and took charge. He could not find the place in the score, so he conducted from memory. He kept the performance going without interruption. Others in the 92-member orchestra carried the stricken Cimara backstage.

Reuther's plan, announced yesterday after sessions with the UAW's 200-man steering committee, would give employees 25 percent of a company's profits above 10 percent of net capital before taxes. Los Angeles — P. Actress Sarah Churchill, red-haired daughter of the British statesman, is slated to be arraigned in justice court at Malibu Beach Thursday on a charge of being drunk in public view.

Miss Churchill, jailed five hours yesterday, has denied the charge, saying she intends to plead innocent.

Sheriff's deputies said they were called to the Malibu home and a matron to subdue her. One deputy's shirt was torn. Later at the county jail, Miss Churchill in a pensive moment quoted from Robert Burns: "In durance we here must I wake and weep."

Jesse L. Lasky, Film Pioneer, Succumbs at 77

Helped Build Vast Moving Picture Empire in Hollywood

Hollywood — P. A heart attack has ended the career of Jesse L. Lasky, movie pioneer who helped build Hollywood's vast film industry.

Lasky, 77, a movie maker 44 years, collapsed and died in Beverly Hills yesterday shortly after talking about his book, "I Blow My Own Horn," before a women's literary club.

The producer, apparently in good health up to that moment, stumbled and fell as he turned to walk toward his car at the motor entrance of the Beverly Hilton hotel. Only a day earlier he had attended the annual pro bowl professional football game in Los Angeles.

Formed a Trio

Lasky, Cecil B. DeMille and Samuel Goldwyn formed a trio that came west and produced the first feature length film, "The Squaw Man," here in 1913.

The early-day producers followed this picture with other films, including "Rose of the Rancho," "Girl of the Golden West," "The Warrens of Virginia," "The Governor's Lady," "The Woman," and many others.

Lasky once recalled that DeMille, director of the Jesse L. Lasky Feature Play company, had been the one who selected a barn amid a Hollywood orange grove for the first production and that he, Lasky, had suggested Arizona.

"I wonder what would have happened to us, and maybe to Hollywood, if Cecil had selected a site in Arizona," Lasky mused.

Famous Stars

In 1916 the Lasky organization merged with Famous Players Film company to become Famous Players - Lasky, forerunner of Paramount Pictures corporation.

It was under Lasky's company that many of the stars of the silent screen rose to fame. They included Dustin Farnum, Edmund Breese, Thomas W. Ross, Blanche Sweet, Wallace Reid, H. B. Warner, Victor Moore, Fannie Ward, Geraldine Farrar and Ina Claire.

In later years such players as Cary Grant, the Marx Brothers, Bing Crosby, Eddie Cantor, Marlene Dietrich, Clara Bow, Gloria Swanson, Richard Dix, Gary Cooper and Harold Lloyd achieved prominence under the Lasky banner.

Hand Injury

Starkevich's companion, Nick Lapapa, Jr., 23, was seized at a hospital where he sought medical attention for a hand injury he said he suffered when he broke a pitcher. Henrotin hospital attendants made a routine report of the injury to police, who arrested him. Under questioning, police said he admitted the wound was inflicted in the Quirk slaying and implicated Starkevich.

The pair forced their way into Quirk's parked car on the north side and got into the back seat. They forced the off-duty policeman and his date, Caroline Smith, 18, a student of modeling, to give up money and jewels.

Then Lapapa ordered Quirk to drive around the neighborhood and pull into an alley. In an apparently desperate gamble to foil the gunmen, Quirk rammed his car into a parked car, whipped out a pistol and started shooting. The gunmen returned fire and Quirk slumped down mortally wounded.

Miss Smith, a willowy brunette who came to Chicago from Mt. Vernon, Ill., identified Lapapa and Starkevich at police headquarters. She said she recognized one by his voice, the other by sight.

"I'm sorry," muttered Starkevich.

Miss Smith, in a voice scarcely above a whisper, replied, "that won't do any good."

Hurt My Hand

As newsmen crowded about him, Starkevich said he fired "two or three times, but straight up in the air. And I heard five shots before that."

At the same time, Lapapa, the son of a Chicago union official, denied firing at all. "That's how I hurt my hand," he insisted, "lunging at the guy."

The two were linked by police at a series of show-ups with a gang of stickup men who preyed on taverns in the near north side district.

Lt. James McMahon, head of the homicide division, said that a few hours before the slaying, the pair raided a tavern and robbed patrons. After disposing of their loot, Lapapa and Starkevich had a few drinks in the loop, then about midnight began looking for a new victim. McMahon said.

Gunman Who Feared Being Shot Surrenders to FBI Agents

Averts Intensive Police Manhunt After Pal Links Him to Killing

Chicago — P. A panicky gunman—hunted by nearly every policeman in the city for the slaying of a fellow patrolman—surrendered to the FBI last night, saying he feared he "was going to be shot on sight."

George Starkevich, 23, his hair combed carefully into a ducktail, turned himself in to the FBI and then was turned over to custody of Chicago police.

At police headquarters, newsmen pumped him about his surrender, and he snarled: "Do you know how hot them streets are?"

All day long, the streets were alive with patrols searching for Starkevich, implicated by a companion in the fatal shooting of Patrolman John Quirk, 23, early yesterday.

School Board Considers Publicizing Own Story

Move Proposed After City Council Requests Plan for Future Buildings on Northside

Board of education members Monday night decided they are not doing a good public relations job in telling the story of school needs to the city council and the public.

As a result, board member Franklin Jesse called for publication of information requested by the council and citizens whenever the need arises.

The move came after the school board received a city council request for plans for future schools, along with a study of how holding classes in shifts or use of the quarter system would affect building needs.

Another reason for the resolution was receipt of a letter from Mrs. Lila Lipske, 1916 N. Viola street, criticizing what she felt is extravagance in building and furnishing schools.

Meeting Set
The school board will meet next Monday night with the city board of public works to discuss a northside site for a future junior high school. The city council in October, 1956, turned down a school board request to buy land near the intersection of Third avenue and N. Oneida street north of Highway 41. The council said the site was too far out of the city. The school will be needed by 1965. Supt. John Mann has said. The land should be bought as soon as possible before houses take up all available area, the school board contends.

Jesse said enrollment figures were presented at that time, along with the expected increase, to show when the school would be needed. Cost of the site at that time was $1,750 an acre.

The city council now has offers on two parcels of land near Highway 41 and Meade street as possible sites for the school. One is on the south side of Highway 41 inside the city and one is on the north side of the highway just out the city. Owners are asking $2,000 and $2,500 an acre, respectively.

Neither Ideal

Mann said neither of the sites is in an ideal location. He says the site should be farther west.

Jesse and other board members noted they had received questions from several people concerning building of schools. One person wanted to know why the board builds only 1-story buildings. School board members said this wasn't true. Only two schools are one story.

The new Huntley elementary school to be built on the north-east side will have two floors. Architects say it costs more to build a multiple story building than a single-story building of the same capacity, members said.

Gymnasiums

The question of need for both a gymnasium and an auditorium also has been raised. Mann said the state law requiring two and one-half hours of physical education weekly for all students was primarily responsible for this.

We can't give all students the required physical education and get any use out of the gymnasium for an auditorium, Mann said. Two schools, Richmond and Foster, have combination gymnasium-auditoriums, Mann said. Experience has shown one use is limited by the other.

Inclusion of a lunch room or cafeteria in elementary schools is the most vulnerable to criticism, Mann said. But he defended the policy on grounds that schools are public buildings and use by the public often calls for facilities to prepare a lunch or dinner.

"We are building schools that will be in use 50 and 75 years from now," Mann explained. "We try to anticipate future needs in including cafeterias" where its money it going and why.

Teachers Ask Boost Despite Lack of Funds

Renew Request for Raising Starting Salary of $4,000

Appleton teachers Monday night repeated their request for pay increases as submitted last June, even if it would mean exceeding the school budget.

About 15 members of the teachers' welfare committee, which prepared the requests, were present at the board of education meeting.

Their proposals would place base pay for beginning teachers at $4,000 a year and the annual increment would be increased from $125 to $150 for the first 14 years. Teachers with 18 or more years of experience would get an extra $200 annually. All items, it was suggested, should become effective for the 1958-59 school year.

A spokesman for the teachers acknowledged there is insufficient money in the budget to pay the increases requested. The board already has budgeted expenses exceeding the amount voted by the council, $3,750 Base Now.

Teachers now get $3,750 yearly base pay, with an extra $125 for each year of teaching experience up to 16 years. Married men and others qualifying as heads of households receive an extra $400 a year. Some teachers get extra pay for extra work beyond regular teaching hours.

Roland Winter, committee chairman and chief spokesman for the teachers, said the requests were made to make beginning salaries competitive with other school systems in the state and to reward the career teacher who has been with the system a number of years.

Other Schedules

Winter said Green Bay has granted teachers a $300 increase in base pay to bring the beginning salary to $4,000. Other cities in the area also are at that level in salary schedules, he said.

Board members said there were limited funds in the budget and asked committeemen to say whether they favor an increase in the base pay or an increase in annual increments most.

The teachers declined to place a priority on the requests, saying some would prefer one while others would want the other.

Other Requests

Other requests by the teachers included an increase in hourly pay for special duties performed by teachers. This includes such things as supervising intramural sports and noon lunch supervision.

They also want incentive pay for gaining additional credits in summer school increased. Other considerations mentioned include group hospital and medical insurance and life insurance benefits.

The school board took no action on the requests, but expects to set salaries Jan. 27. Teachers receive new contracts in April, but Supt. of Schools John P. Mann said he should know the expected salaries to be paid before he begins interviewing prospective teachers. He plans to begin interviews in February.

BASED ON 4-DOOR MODELS WITH HIGHEST STANDARD HORSEPOWER-TO-WEIGHT RATIO

NEW! HIGHEST HORSEPOWER IN THE FIELD!

By the most important yardstick of a car's performance—power-per-pound—Mercury has no equal. It outclasses every full-sized car in America.

In actual horsepower, Mercury not only leads its field with 360 hp, but surpasses all cars except one—and that one costs almost $1,000 more.

NEW ECONOMY! MORE POWER FROM LESS GAS!

Mercury's championship performance is the result of a completely new family of money-saving Marauder V-8 engines—one for each series of cars. 312 hp for the Montereys, 330 hp for the Montclairs, and 360 hp for the Park Lanes. These engines are of a revolutionary new Cool-Power design. Power and fuel once lost to heat and friction are put to work for you. You get more power from less gas.

SPECIAL TO OWNERS OF THE "LOW-PRICED 3"

Why settle for less than the Performance Champion? Mercury prices start below many models of smaller, far less powerful cars.

U. S. Reaction To Sputniks Surprised USSR

Instead of Retreat, Western Allies Plan Armament Increase

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington — What has been the real motive of the Soviet Union in pressing so hard for a "summit conference" at this time? Why have the radio stations of Moscow and Peking been shouting so loudly and so persistently every night that a "summit conference" with the United States as a participant must be held soon? Why have the powerful radio transmitters in the captive countries from Warsaw to Cairo and into Asia been echoing this Soviet line?

The answers are plain to see when one analyzes the intent of these short-wave broadcasts. For it is evident that the Kremlin got an unexpected reaction to their "sputniks." Instead of establishing the Soviet Union as theoretically able to dictate peace terms, the launching of the satellites resulted in a demand inside the United States and allied countries that Soviet strength be promptly matched. The Soviet government, therefore, having overplayed its hand with the "sputniks," has felt that there is only one way to get America back to the path of unilateral disarmament — which is what Moscow has been aiming at right along — and that's by a "summit conference."

The Soviets also are striving to soften public opinion in all the countries which are members of the North Atlantic Treaty organization, where the proposal to hold a "summit conference" is being described in the press as "popular." But it is evident that the implications of the Soviet scheme have not only the administration in being thoroughly analyzed. Thus its battle against adverse Soviets to respect a so-called "neutralized" zone, which would include Germany, Czechoslovakia and Poland, and perhaps the Scandinavian countries and in which there would be any missile bases or stockpiles of atomic weapons. This insidious concept has lately been gaining some ground in Europe as a result of the sensation created by a series of lectures delivered in London by George F. Kennan, former American ambassador to Moscow. Kennan has bluntly advocated the withdrawal of American troops from Europe under the plan for a so-called "neutralized" zone. Not only have the communists played up the Kennan lectures in their press and radio, too, but in western countries various groups, including some of the British labor party leaders, have proclaimed support for them on the ground that the Kennan views reflect what a new Democratic administration in Washington could be expected to advocate. Fortunately Dean Acheson, former secretary of state in the Truman administration and at present a member of the advisory council of the Democratic national committee, struck a stunning blow against the Kennan viewpoint in a spirited statement issued last Saturday. Acheson sternly repudiated the Kennan thesis as inconsistent with Democratic party doctrine and said that similar views advanced by Kennan had been rejected when offered by him during the Truman administration. Acheson's statement was issued in New York city through the American council on Germany, a group of prominent citizens who want to see Germany reunited as a free republic and not as a tool of the Soviets. Acheson said in part:

Speaks with Authority Kennan can speak with authority in the field he knows — and a broad one it is — the field of Russian history and culture, and the attitudes of mind induced by the practice of Marxist-Leninist ideology. Kennan has never, in my judgment, grasped the realities of power, relationships, but takes a rather mystical attitude toward them. To Kennan, there is no Soviet military threat in Europe.

Acheson's statement is one of the best he has ever issued on the subject of Soviet aggression. He deserves the widest press as "popular." But it is evident that the implications of the Soviet scheme have not only the administration in being thoroughly analyzed. Thus its battle against adverse Soviets to respect a so-called "neutralized" zone, which would include Germany, Czechoslovakia and Poland, and per-

HOW TO DEAL WITH YOUR TENSIONS

The quest for peace of mind — or for good mental health, which is another name for it — is universal. Yet very few of us are blessed with all the internal qualities and external circumstances that automatically assure us of peace of mind. We have to work to achieve it. Following is one of a few simple, ready-to-hand actions which may help you.

TALK IT OUT

When something worries you, talk it out. Don't bottle it up. Confide your worry to some levelheaded person you can trust: your husband or wife, father or mother, a good friend, your clergyman, your family doctor, a teacher, school counselor, or dean. Talking things over helps to relieve your strain, helps you to see your worry in a clearer light, and often helps you to see what you can do about it.

This is one of eleven simple suggestions that can be helpful if they are applied diligently. If you would like further information, write for the free new booklet: "How To Deal With Your Tensions," written by top experts in the field of psychiatry. Fourth State Hospital Won't Materialize Soon

Building at Madison for Retarded
Children Must be Finished First

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
Madison — Ultimate establishment of a sizeable state hospital in the Fox valley area for the treatment and care of mentally retarded children is a strong probability.
But such action is only likely some years hence, according to the best judgment of the administrators of the state department of public welfare.
One official, with a backward look at the history of other institutional developments in the state, said it may take 5 to 10 years to get authorization for a fourth state colony for the treatment of mental defectives. The head of the state division of mental

Claims Larger Cities Must Work Together

Madison Mayor
Finds Present
Method Ineffectual

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
Madison — The larger cities of Wisconsin must collaborate more effectively on their common problems and assert themselves more aggressively in state legislation, according to the mayor of Madison.
Mayor Ivan Nestingen, addressing fellow Democrats at a luncheon here, said he has learned since becoming mayor of Madison that the larger communities of Wisconsin have been ineffectual as a group in legislative relations.

He said the League of Wisconsin Municipalities, to which they pay substantial dues, is not always adequate for their needs on its present pattern of organization because the sometimes hostile attitudes of smaller communities serve to immobilize it at critical junctures.

No Criticism
Nesting later said he meant no criticism of the league which he said is staffed by good men.

But there should be a special section of the league composed of the larger communities which could represent them in their special problems, he explained.

Nesting complained that the legislature has shown little interest in the increasingly critical problems of the growing cities of Wisconsin, and that cities individually, including Madison, have not been able to make an effective impression in legislative halls.

hygiene advised the state board of public welfare a fourth institution will be required to meet Wisconsin needs adequately.

The state now has two institutions caring for mentally retarded patients, at Chippewa Falls and at Union Grove. Both have been crowded. The fact that bed space for years has been less than required by the number of children qualified for admission to the schools led the legislature two years ago to authorize construction of a third colony near Madison. Plans are being pushed for that institution, and construction may start on its first unit later this year.

Need More Money
But before a fourth institution is authorized, the welfare department probably will ask for the $3,000,000 to bring the Madison colony to its originally planned size and 1,000 bed capacity, officials have informally explained.

There is a reasonable certainty, however, that even more space will be required within the decade. The ratio of retardation shows no signs of lessening. Case-finding is today more effective, a fact which, combined with a gradual growth in the state's population, has increased the number of commitments of institutional care yearly.

There has been some counter-balance in the fact that more localities are now providing special classes in the local schools for retarded children. Such classes, however, are helpful for the most part only to those children with slight impairments. The seriously retarded children will continue to be cared for in state institutions, officials explain.

Misapplying History

Walter Lippmann, writing in Look, tells why he believes "we must learn to live with Russia." The scholarly Lippmann supports his viewpoint by drawing a historical parallel:

Islam and Christendom were at war for centuries. Neither conquered the other. Both have survived and flourished, and have managed to live in the same world. Within Christendom, for generations after the Reformation, there was a bitter struggle between Protestant and Catholic Europe. Who won that struggle? The answer is that nobody won it finally and conclusively, and there was no unconditional surrender.

My own view is that our struggle with the communist powers is essentially like the wars of religion in that the struggle will never end, and that it will never be finally settled. But it can be made to subside, and the rivalry can be held within tolerable limits.

The trouble with Lippmann's historical parallel is that it fails to consider the vast changes that have taken place in the world since the Protestant-Catholic wars of 300 years ago, or the clashes between Christendom and Islam some centuries earlier. Lippmann himself has pointed out many times that the world has grown smaller, that the speed and range of modern communications and especially of modern armaments call for new concepts in both politics and military strategy, and make many things possible today that could not be dreamed of a century ago.

The opposing forces in the great religious wars were not armed with H-bombs or missiles. To say that because neither side in those wars won absolute victory, neither communism nor freedom can defeat each other today is to stubbornly refuse to face the facts of today's world.

Those facts show that complete victory by one side or the other in today's world struggle is perfectly possible. Some authorities, in fact, think such victory might be gained in the space of 24 hours. It would be criminal to delude ourselves by imagining that there is no danger of annihilation of our defenses, and complete conquest by our enemies.

We are even more disturbed by the suggestion that the war between freedom and communist despotism is simply another case of men fighting one another because they hold differing viewpoints regarding religious, political or social organization. The implication is that historians of the future will consider this war as basically irrational as the religious wars, that whatever history's judgment as to which side was "right" the conflict in ideologies was really not worth fighting about. Furthermore, Lippmann accepts the idea that communism is going to last at least a thousand years (remember Hitler?); that it is as permanent a fixture in human existence as Islam and Christianity.

Is this, then, what Lippmann and others like him really believe — that the war between freedom and communism is simply conflict in points of view, in interpretation of history? If we accept this idea we must, perforce, grant the communist leaders the right to hold their "point of view" which in turn holds that they have a right to keep millions of people in virtual slavery, to murder them by the hundreds of thousands if they feel like it, to ship them into exile, to suppress all original thought and expression in the lands under their control.

Perhaps this is all freedom means to Mr. Lippmann: perhaps from his lofty pinnacle he can close his ears to the cries of the oppressed, and shrug off the yearnings for freedom that are so evident behind the Iron Curtain. But we doubt whether many Americans will be able to emulate his poise. For ourselves, we would suggest a different historical parallel: the world cannot long remain half slave and half free. The terrible danger is that we will all become slaves.

Settling Income Tax Claims

Joe Louis, the former heavyweight boxing champion, has signed an agreement with the federal government to make payments of $20,000 per year on the $1,250,000 he owes in back income taxes.

This can scarcely be considered an agreement to pay off the debt, for the $20,000 annual payment is less than 2 per cent of the total owed. Such payments would not even keep up with the interest charges, to say nothing of paying off the principal. Quite obviously the government is accepting what it can get, and there are hints that eventually it may call the debt paid and cancel all payments.

If it does it will be treating Joe Louis no better than it has treated thousands of others who have fallen behind in their income tax payments in the past. It is pretty well established that, except in cases of fraud, the taxpayer who takes his case to the tax court generally "gets a break" from Uncle Sam.

The published reports of income tax settlements have raised the suspicion that many taxpayers may have been encouraged to hold out on their income tax bills in the expectation of being able to settle the bills with the government and come out well ahead. Based on a study of income tax evasion in 1948, some estimate the present tax cheating at $3 billion per year. There can be little doubt that much of this is encouraged by reports of huge tax bills being settled for a fraction of the amount the government originally claimed was due. Probably an added cause is the trifling amount of social stigma which attaches to income tax cheating.

The inclination of many to cheer favorable tax settlements with the government indicates a failure to understand that every tax cheater who succeeds leaves bills to be paid by the honest taxpayers. No one can be sure whether a tax settlement meant the government claimed too much originally, or whether the taxpayer really succeeded in concealing his perfidy.

However the records of the United States Tax Court indicate that those who fight for their rights do very well. In the more than 30 years of the court's history its decisions in 154,743 cases found total tax deficiencies of $1.6 billions. However, in those cases the government had originally sought $6 billions. Only 34,064 cases resulted in written opinions. A total of 102,675 were closed by agreement by the parties without trial, and presumably pretty much in favor of the taxpayers.

In the past year 4,609 cases were closed in the court either by dismissal, stipulation or by written opinion. In those cases the taxpayers were required to pay $107 millions, as against the $273 millions the government originally asked.

The 16 judges of the court are able to keep abreast of the flood of cases only by requiring the parties to stipulate the facts or agree on evidence to the fullest extent possible. Under this rule many conferences are held without a judge being present, and thousands of cases are settled. This is, of course, a good policy in civil court cases where both parties are personally concerned. There may be some doubts in tax cases where a taxpayer who is personally concerned is dealing with tax officials who have no personal interest in the outcome or who may be subject to political pressure for a generous settlement. Finally, there is the question of what effect such settlements may have on other taxpayers.

What Others are Saying

TV Dams Save Chattanooga From Floods

From The Milwaukee Journal

A year ago—in January and February—the Tennessee river had its largest flood in 90 years.

The floodwaters gathered to a potential crest of 54 feet—a height that engineers say would have caused $66,000,000 damage at Chattanooga.

Some 25 years ago the floods would have been big news. The human suffering would have torn the heart of the nation.

But the recent floods weren't particularly news. The annual report of the Tennessee Valley authority tells why. The TVA flood control system held the waters. It kept the

Ike Called Captive of His Own Party

From The Atlanta Journal

It takes more than a few swings of a golf club, attendance at church and an abnity to sit in at an occasional conference to be president of the United States.

But to judge by the cheery little tidbits of news released by the men behind the man in the White House, all is rosy in that best possible of worlds.

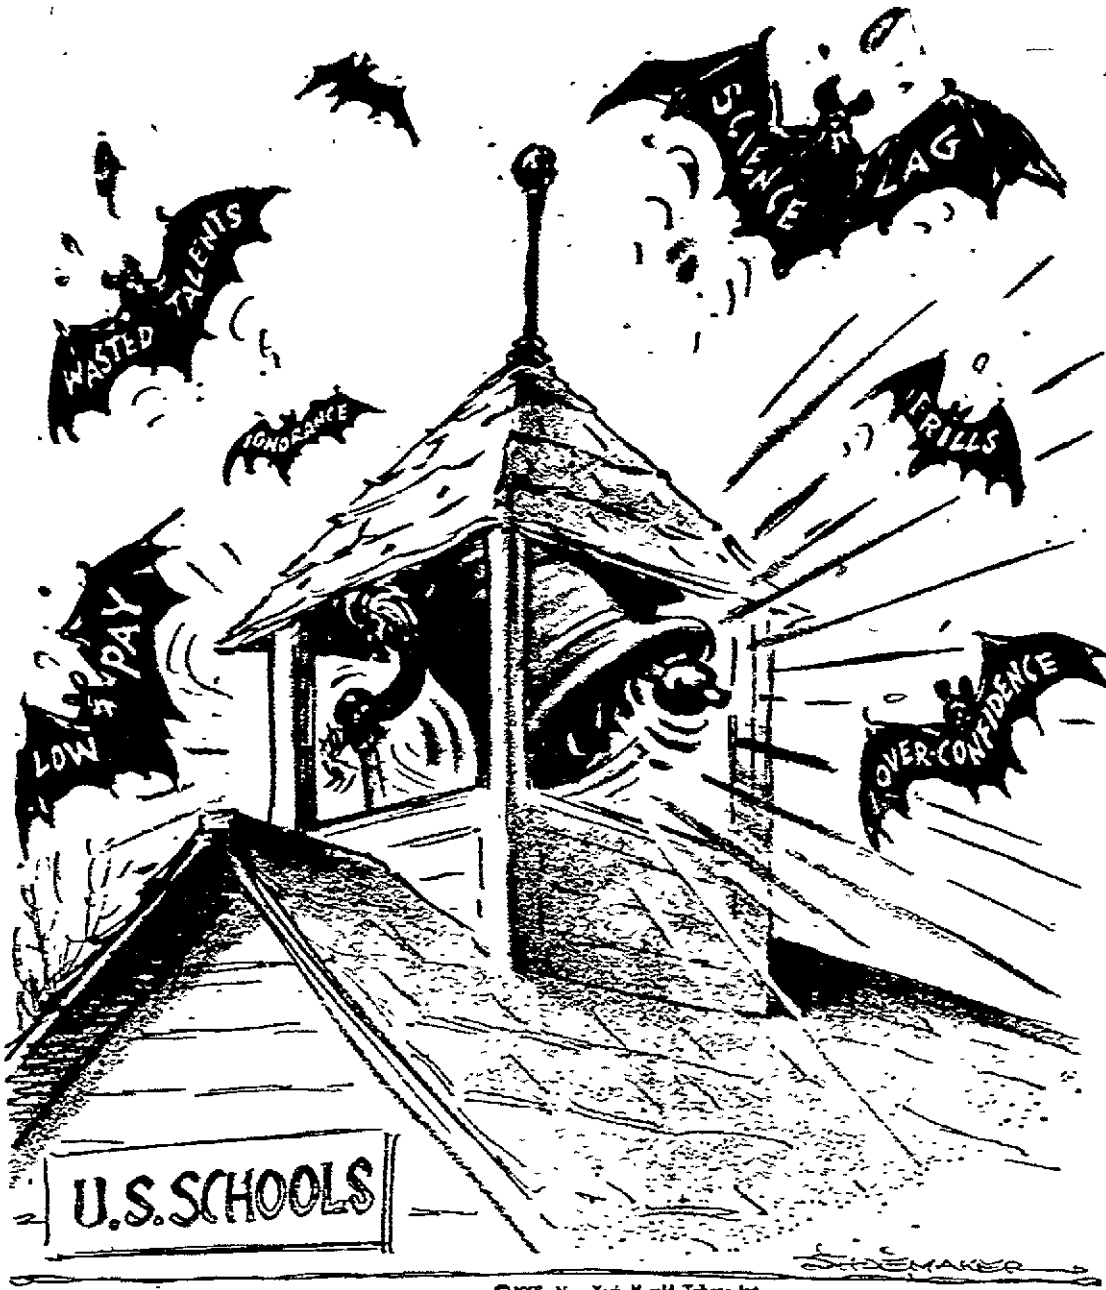

Few other people think so. The president is sick. He has been sick since his first heart attack in his first term. It is too much to ask the world to believe that successive illnesses have not impaired his efficiency.

Each new bulletin and column from Washington makes it clearer that the president is a victim of circumstances, a captive of his party and a man who has served his country far beyond the call of duty. Each day that he remains unhappily in office brings the end that comes to us all that much closer.

He should be allowed to resign and live in peace, free from the strains and harassments of his job.

And before he leaves he should be granted one last favor. He should be allowed to mete out as cruel and unusual punishments as he pleases to those individuals who talked him into a second term.

Exit — Bats in Our Belfry?

These Days

Many of Those Men in Blue in New York City Aren't Policemen

BY GEORGE SOKOLSKY
(Copyright, 1958)

In Joe's battle with the cops over his arrest for being off his leash, we have come upon an amazing discovery. The fellow who issued the wrong summons for Joe was no cop. He could not arrest a murderer or a mugger or such. He wore a policeman's uniform; he boasted a policeman's badge; his head was covered by a policeman's cap, but, so help me, he belonged to the department of sanitation.

Sokolsky

Why the street cleaning cops do not wear green or white or purple uniforms. I have not been told. They wear blue like a regular policeman. I say it is camouflage: it is a trick.

Here in this big city, New York, where 8,000,000 or more people live in peace and democracy, as "Butch" La Guardia used to say, there are all sorts of people who wear police uniforms. First of all are the police of the police department who are, as things go in a big city, fairly popular with most folks, unless one double-parks on the exact day and the precise hour when they take it into their heads to give out tickets.

First Things First
Then there are the sanitation department police who walk about chasing dogs, annoy ing superintendents of large buildings, going after chewing gum addicts who drop wrappers on the sidewalks, etc. They are the enemies of the litter-bugs.

It would be smarter if the regular police got the money for additional men, for while a litter-bug is bad, a mugger is worse; and while it makes a city look sloppy if dogs are not curbed, it also makes a city look sloppy if cars are so parked that nothing can be done about sweeping the streets. So let us take first things first, namely, spend more money on cops to put down crime and juvenile delinquency.

Then there are the transit police who might wear a grey uniform, instead of the true blue. The transit police look after subways and such places. There are not enough of them and in the rush and hustle of New York's transportation, which is normally a bughouse operation, they are flattened out by the mob.

The transit police recently got a bad name by putting a microphone in the offices of a labor union in anticipation of a strike. Nobody seems to have liked that idea at all. "Bugging" as it is called, is a criminal process, usually operated by private detectives to get the goods on an erring husband or wife.

Those who err constantly try to avoid using their own telephones, lest they be bugged, which is easy to do. They make their rendezvous over pay-station telephones, changing from one to another. Please, do not ask me how I know.

Then there are the port of New York authority police who act in the airports, bus terminals and such places. They also wear the true blue uniform but they are really watchmen in circumscribed areas. They should wear pink.

Confusion
The citizen becomes confused. There are too many public agencies and too many men in uniform and too many police who are not police. I do not know how it is in other big cities but here in New York the citizen asks why a great big cop worries a little dog only to discover that the dog-stalker is not a policeman at all; that he is just a sanitation department guy.

So from now on, every time I see one of those monstrous garbage wagons violate the law about blocking the streets or dropping part of the garbage cans in the street, or committing any other kind of a nuisance, I shall call a cop.

What can a citizen do? Write to the mayor? The citizen gets nowhere. The mayor is probably scared that his wagon-drivers and garbage wrestlers will go on strike. Go, fight city hall!

Meanwhile, Joe must stand trial for being off his leash. Does Joe care? Is Joe grateful that he is being represented by adequate counsel who will see to it that his constitutional rights are protected? Not Joe! He is a politician. He did not even bark at the sanitation department dog-stalker, but when he saw a real cop in true blue uniform, he gave him what for.

As with dogs, so it is with men, or is it vice versa?

Knights of Honor Officers Named

79 YEARS AGO

Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for the week of Jan. 18, 1879.

The following gentlemen were chosen officers of Forest City Lodge, No. 352, Knights of Honor, at the last meeting:

Gabe Ullman, dictator; George C. Dickinson, vice dictator; B. Lyons, assistant dictator; H. A. Shipman, reporter; Theodore W. Briggs, financial representative; A. B. Briggs, treasurer; Samuel Boyd, guide; J. F. Rose, chaplain; Fred Peterson, guardian; Jacob Hammel, sentinel.

25 YEARS AGO

Tuesday, Jan. 10, 1933

One of the big double wheels from a street department truck decided to go gallivanting one day last week — almost climbed a tree, just missed hitting three girls, jumped a bridge rail and landed at the bottom of the Fox River Paper company canal. A street department fishing party, under the direction of Theodore Albrecht, street commissioner, was organized, and after two hours of cruising up and down the canal with pike poles, the truant wheel was located and hauled up the bank.

New officers of Appleton Barbers' union were Harvey Johnson, president, Alfred Giese, vice president, Michael Hauser, secretary and treasurer, Walter Bergman, recording secretary.

Ray Madam was installed as noble grand of Konicmic lodge, No. 47, Order of Odd Fellows. Harold J. Thurber was seated as vice grand, W. S. Patterson as secretary, and D. C. Taylor as treasurer.

E. C. Lowe, Menasha, was elected senior warden of St. Thomas Episcopal church. W. A. Brooks was junior warden. J. F. Gillingham, treasurer, and John McAndrews, clerk of the vestry. The meeting was preceded by a dinner served under the direction of Mrs. Hans Rasmussen.

'Sportsmen' Don't Pay For Conservation

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

Madison — An upper Wisconsin professional critic of the Wisconsin conservation department complains in a periodical devoted to outdoors affairs in which he is a featured commentator:

"For some time now we, the sportsmen of Wisconsin, have not been taken into consideration."

And he went into a protracted criticism of state conservation department affairs, the state of organized outdoor sportsmanship in Wisconsin, and the need to scuttle the present form of administration of the big state conservation program and the institution of a new system with regional commissioners elected on a public ballot.

To many "sportsmen," as the term is popularly defined, that has a familiar and perhaps an appropriate ring. But to many of the hundreds of thousands of citizens of Wisconsin concerned with a conservation program in a fundamental way, it is a curiously primitive attitude.

PROPRIETARY

Lingering from the formative years of the Wisconsin conservation program is the idea that the man who pays a dollar or two for a hunting and fishing license has a proprietary interest in the whole natural resources management business — and an implicit right to push conservation administrators around.

Not only should the sporting license holder be able to harvest fish, and fur and game — to the theoretical value of several hundreds of dollars every year — but the mere fact that he paid a few dollars for such harvesting privileges according to that school of thought gives him a special status as citizen.

He is the "conservationist". The man who doesn't care for shooting, or the man who doesn't have the leisure for outdoor diversions, or the man who finds his satisfaction in merely viewing, or photographing, or studying, is a lesser kind than that man who shoots and otherwise captures the creatures of the wild for pleasure and for the pan or roasting oven.

This is a primitive prejudice. Actually, the hunters and fishermen who are constantly boasting that they "pay the freight" and claiming that they ought to be superior in conservation program counsels as a consequence are wrong statistically. The general taxpayer is at least as important in the total state natural resources conservation effort as is the sporting license buyer, and even when the conservation department budget is considered alone, 40 per cent of the total comes from property taxpayers.

THE CHANGE

This prejudice about special position and special privileges is perhaps an inevitable result of the political necessities surrounding the original establishment of the conservation department. There was then a conscious effort to develop unity and self-consciousness among the license buyers, as a pressure group.

Happily that narrow state of mind is gradually disappearing.

There is a growing realization, even in the legislature where the average member used to disparage anybody who claimed to be a conservationist who didn't kill a deer every fall, there is now a recognition that conservation is the business of the whole public, and that the body politic is paying for it.

Perhaps the best illustration of the maturity of view on the matter was given when the present conservation director, Lester P. Voigt, was named to his office a few years ago.

An outdoors writer interviewed him for a feature story, fully expecting to hear the orthodox line. Voigt was asked about his hobbies. Twenty years ago his reply would have been hilarious. Two years ago it was passed without notice when he allowed that he likes tennis, and reading, and made no mention whatever of duck hunting or the pleasures of the deer camp.

After a strenuous game of hide and seek, officials using laborers rounded up the orphans and are now hand feeding them until they are old enough to venture outside.

Before being killed the mother was a frequent visitor of the health department. She would loiter on the department's porch, eat from employees' hands and run over their typewriter keys.

Steel Rigger Falls

30 Feet, Walks Away

Cockeysville, Md. — "I — Richard Lee May, 25-year-old steel rigger who fell 30 feet, walked into the police station and said calmly: "I think I've got a broken arm. Can you get me a doctor?"

May was right. At Union Memorial hospital in Baltimore, doctors found he had five fractures of his right arm, a broken wrist, fractured fingers and several broken ribs.

Congress Asked to Boost Debt Limit

Secretary of Treasury Makes Request to Congress Leaders

Washington —P— The Eisenhower administration today asked congress to boost the $275 billion limit on the national debt to $280 billion. Secretary of the Treasury Robert Anderson asked for the $5 billion boost in letters to Democratic and Republican leaders of the house ways and means and senate finance committees. Those are the committees which would handle such legislation. Anderson submitted a draft of suggested legislation that would make the increase effective on a temporary basis from the date of enactment through June 30 1955. Indicated in Message The national debt subject to the ceiling limitation stood at April when income taxes are 274,250,766.593 28 on Jan. 9, or due.

Defense Items Expected to be Given Approval

Continued from page 1 much. The house last year reluctantly voted to increase the rate to 4 cents. There had been an indication in President Eisenhower's budget message yesterday that the administration would ask for an increase in the ceiling of rising defense expenditures. With little elbow room in the defense field congress was expected to center its economy efforts on what Rep. Taber of New York called 'the fat' in the budget. "I never have seen a budget gram that didn't have fat," the senior education standards. There is Republican on the appropriate committee commented. Likely to be the target for foreign aid funds deeply and heavily economy drives were Eisenhower's proposals to spend gram.

Reds Assail Ike for 'War Budget' Goals

Continued from page 1 "clear proposals on which we depend the peace and security of millions." In his reply Eisenhower did not rule out a summit meeting eventually. But among other things he proposed the elimination of the U. S. and Soviet veto in the U. N. Security council when that body tries to settle disputes. Communist China echoed the soviet criticism but the British press generally applauded Eisenhower's budget message. This is a serious provocation against the peaceful aspirations of the people of all countries," said red China's official People's Daily in an editorial broadcast by Peiping radio. In Britain the most common reaction was that the budget was just about what was to be expected in the wake of Russia's sputniks. Praise in Britain "The budget will be welcomed outside America and should add point to the level-headed and conciliatory arguments with which the president answered Mr. Bulganin's letter," said the Times. The conservative Daily Telegraph applauded the president's desire to keep down non-military expenditure and add point to the level-headed and conciliatory arguments with which the president answered Mr. Bulganin's letter," said the Times. The conservative Daily Telegraph applauded the president's desire to keep down non-military expenditure and add point to the level-headed and conciliatory arguments with which the president answered Mr. Bulganin's letter," said the Times.

Appleton Post-Crescent 11 Tuesday, Jan. 14, 1958
fect it is likely to have on the general level of economic activity," the Financial Times said
"From both points of view the president's proposals are a step in the right direction but do not go far enough to meet the needs of the situation"
The conservative Daily Mail said it was stupefied by the size of the budget. It noted the total is almost as large as Britain's national debt. The U. S. Air Force alone will spend more than Britain's entire annual budget and the American missile program will receive more than Britain's whole defense establishment.
"What a country," declared the Daily Mail. "And what an ally! Where would the Old World be without this prodigious friend in the new?"

Power Company Official Shows Slide Rules

Appleton Lions See
Items From Collection
By Michigan Resident

Slide rules and slide charts to solve any computation problem were displayed by L. W. Wyss, Iron Mountain, Mich., Wisconsin Michigan Power company production superintendent. Wyss demonstrated items from his collection of 497 slide rules and charts to Appleton Lions club Monday.

Wyss said he foresaw the day when young engineers would be equipped with slide rule kits to solve any professional problem.

He displayed a variety of equipment ranging from that used by weather forecasters to a needle and suture selector for doctors. For farmers there were charts to show water needs, silo grain capacity and indicators for garden pest control methods.

Truck drivers can determine weight and size limitations on their rigs in any state in the union by turning a dial on one type of chart. Carpenters can use a slide chart which tells them the length, diameter, cost per pound and amount per pound of any type of nail.

Braille Slide
A braille slide rule shown by Wyss has raised numbers to aid blind people in computing problems.

Wyss whose collection covers 175 square feet when fully displayed—traced the slide rule's history from 1620 when an English college professor invented a movable rule. He said the modern slide rule was developed in 1830 by a Frenchman.

Wyss began his collection while in grammar school. A relative gave him a small 5-inch slide rule and insisted he learn how to use it.

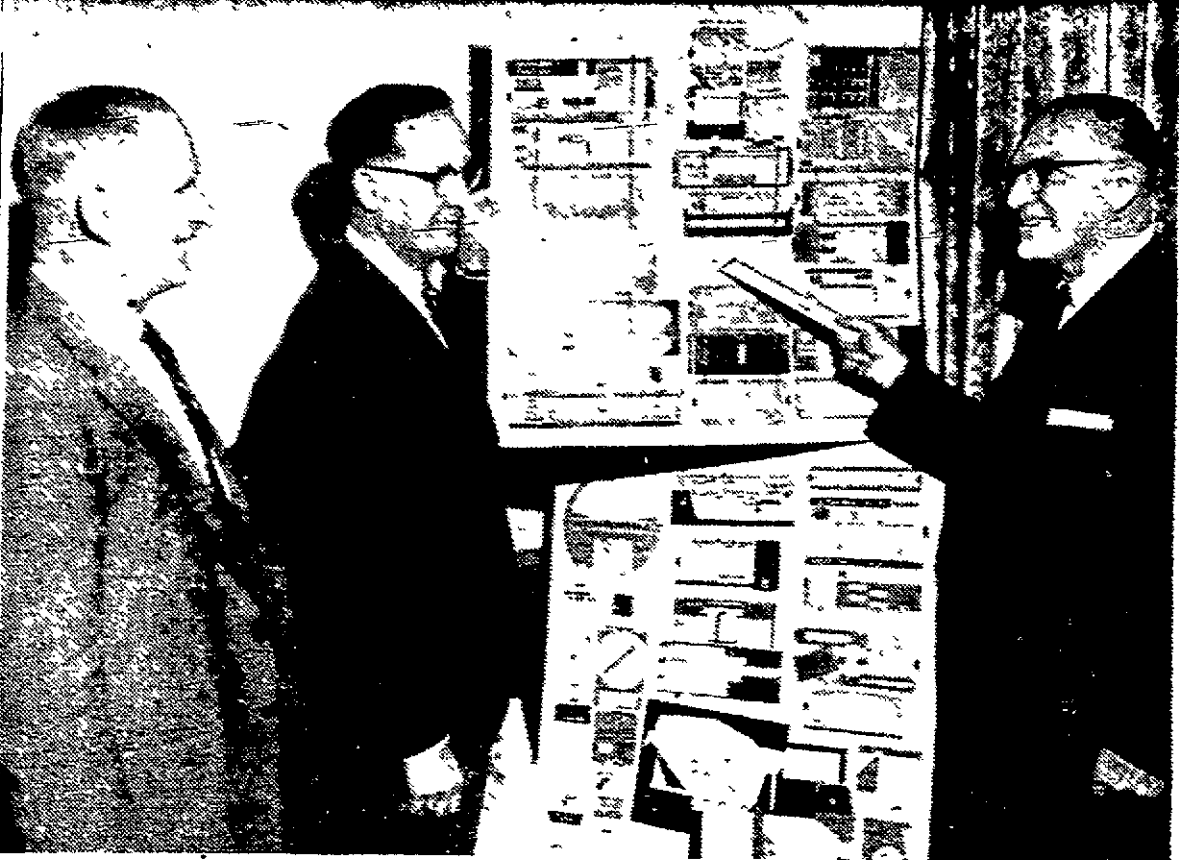

"My school teacher thought it was some sort of game and took it away from me," Wyss stated, "but when she found out what it was she became interested in it, too."

"When I was 17 years old my father gave me a standard slide rule I've used since then. It's travelled about 750,000 miles with me."

He noted a new circular slide rule can compute 60 times as fast as a pencil and 150 times faster than a conventional slide rule.

Admits Pose As Doctor to Obtain Drugs

Spencer Man Charged
In Green Bay, Court
Orders Investigation

Green Bay — Robert F. Pilz, 36, Spencer, Monday admitted posing as a doctor to obtain narcotics in Green Bay, Appleton and three other cities. He was ordered held for a pre-sentence investigation by Green Bay Municipal Judge Donald W. Gleason.

Pilz was tried under a new state statute which allows charges of a similar nature from several cities to be consolidated with trial held in a single court.

Pilz admitted he looked up the names of physicians in the telephone book in at least five cities, then called druggists and asked for prescriptions to be sent to an address. Pilz would wait for the delivery boy and take the narcotics, police said.

Arrested In Wausau
The Spencer man was arrested in Wausau and returned to Green Bay on a warrant charging evading payment of a hotel bill. The narcotics charge was brought after his return.

A warrant was issued Dec. 20 in Appleton, charging Pilz with obtaining narcotics by posing as a doctor. Pilz attempted to get narcotics at another Appleton drug store, but the druggist called the doctor whose name Pilz gave.

Pilz's attorney asked the court to investigate, claiming Pilz was a sick man in need of hospitalization.

AHS Finalists Selected for Exchange Plan

Finalists at Appleton High school selected for the American Field Service summer program are John Bubolz, Mike Franzke, Ann McKenny and Mary Metzger. The names of these junior students will be sent to the New York office of American Field Service for final selection from among other candidates.

The summer program of exchange students gives American students an opportunity to live for two months with a family in a European country. School's in the United States which sponsor foreign exchange students are eligible to submit names of junior students for the summer program.

During the last two years Appleton High school has sent two students to Europe each summer. Elizabeth Temple and Marilyn Sarberlich spent one summer in Europe and last summer Penny Mitchell and Mary Quella participated.

A committee composed of students, faculty and townspeople made the final selection from 14 juniors who submitted their names this year.

Plan 330-Acre Industry Park In Green Bay

Would Buy Land
With Money From
$500,000 in Bonds

Green Bay — The Green Bay industrial development authority has announced plans to buy at least 330 acres of land for an industrial park.

The authority will ask the council's finance committee to recommend a tract on the city's far northwest side in the town of Howard.

A $500,000 general obligation bond issue, which would have to be approved in a referendum April 1, would pay for the land.

Options, already taken expire May 31 giving time enough the agenda for members of the Visiting Nurse association class for expectant mothers. The group will meet at 1.30 Wednesday afternoon in the hospital lobby and will be led by Miss Inez Davis, VNA nurse director.

for legal details if the voters approve April 1.

The plan was endorsed Friday by the Green Bay Association of Commerce. It is believed to be the first under the Quinn bill, adopted in the 1957 legislature, and giving cities and villages the right to buy and develop tracts for future industrial use with money from general obligation or revenue bonds.

Appleton's council Jan. 2 bought a 39.91-acre tract for a similar industrial park, but will pay for the land from contingent fund money. The parcel cost $58,365.

Neenah's council entered the fray in October, 1956, paying $40,000 for a 20-acre tract on its south limits. It bypassed a bond issue.

Two Firms to Move
The Green Bay announcement came on the heels of reports that two of the city's business firms, employing about 250 people, are moving elsewhere.

Wheeler division Borden company, is understood to intend to consolidate its Green Bay operations in a new processing plant at Plymouth. Evidently tied to the Borden move is that of the A&P warehouse which, an A&P official mouth, too. The A&P move is scheduled

AHS Students Prepare For Second Semester

Students at Appleton High school are making plans this week for their second semester programs. Registration will be completed Wednesday.

Homeroom sessions are being sometime this summer, probably in August, it was said. Borden's new processing plant probably won't be ready until late in the year and an official has said the move of Green Bay operations "eventually" will be consolidated at Plymouth.

Lack of Support Kills Ordinance Amendment

Proposal Would Have Allowed Builders To Start Parade of Homes Work Early

An attempt to amend one of the city's major building ordinances died Monday for lack of support in the street and sanitation committee.

At stake was an amendment to the ordinance which prohibits issuing a building permit for home construction on any street which does not have grading and a graveling or sewer and water. The proposed amendment would have allowed the committee to authorize the building inspector to issue permits where in his estimation, street work would be done by the time of occupancy.

With three of the five committeemen on hand, two failed to support the motion of the third alderman that the ordinance be amended.

Home Builders
If approved and sent on to council, it would have opened the way for the Fox Valley Home Builders association to begin construction on homes scheduled for display in the 1958 parade of homes. The proposal will remain a dead item unless it is brought up in committee again.

The association had asked the committee for permission to begin construction on "about 10 or 15" homes in the North Acres plat on Appleton's north side where grading and graveling have not been completed.

In other action, the committee:

Shop Committee
Met with the shop committee of the street and sanitation departments to discuss working and salary conditions. No action was taken.

Recommended the city enter into an agreement with the Korner Displays company, Minneapolis, Minn., which permits the company to install 50 or more trash and rubbish containers at points around the city subject to approval of the committee. The committee ordered City Atty. Don Jury to go over the contractual agreement before any action becomes final. The entire operation will be at no cost to the city, nor will it give added responsibility to city crews.

Under terms of the contract, the firm will show, by draw-

Car, School Bus Collide in Fog; No One Injured

A car and a school bus collided in the fog on Highway 54 in the town of Oneida shortly after 8 o'clock this morning. Only one child was on the bus and no one was injured.

The bus, owned by J. F. Huettl and Sons, Seymour, was driven by Vernon J. Driesow, 23, route 3, Seymour. The car was driven by Judith A. Woersch, 19, Seymour.

Both vehicles were going east and the car ran into the rear of the bus as it slowed for a right turn onto a town road, police said. Driver of the car told police she didn't see the bus in time to stop because of the fog.

A car driven by Dolores L. Sigl, 18, route 2, Seymour, hit a bump on Highway 55 about a mile south of Freedom, rolled over and stopped right side up.

Neither the driver nor the one passenger was injured. The car was damaged on the top and right side.

A car driven by Gene Appleton, 33, 1201 E. Calumet street, missed a curve and went into the ditch on County Trunk MM about a quarter mile south of Highway 76 at 3:30 Monday afternoon. Neither Appleton nor his passenger was injured, but damage to the car was estimated at $1,200.

K-C to Build New Plant in Canadian City

Tissue Converting Operation to Employ 150 Persons in Quebec

Kimberly-Clark corporation, today announced a Canadian expansion program involving construction of a 60,000 square foot plant at St. Hyacinthe, Quebec. Initially new employees are estimated at 150.

Estimate of the cost was not made available.

Construction of the plant will be complete by fall of 1958. Previous to that, the corporation will begin operations next month in a leased plant adjacent to the construction site.

The unit marks another step in a corporation program to locate plants nearer mass consuming markets, John R. Kimberly, president and board chairman, said. The plant initially will convert sanitary creped wadding products—Kleenex tissue and Delsey bathroom tissue—for markets in the Montreal area and in the Province of Quebec.

St. Hyacinthe is 30 miles east of Montreal. Kimberly-Clark presently maintains Canadian converting operations of sanitary creped wadding products at Niagara Falls, Ontario, and at Winnipeg, Manitoba. Other Canadian manufacturing operations are at Kapuskasing, Ontario, and at Terrace Bay, Ontario.

Trio Wants WIAA to Move to Appleton

Chamber President, Secretary, Mayor Go to Milwaukee Saturday

Three, Appleton men Saturday will attempt to talk the Wisconsin Interscholastic Athletic association into moving its headquarters to Appleton. Mayor Robert L. Roemer, Chamber of Commerce President Victor I. Minahan, Jr., and Chamber Secretary Kenneth Corbett are scheduled to present the city's case to the WIAA board of control at Milwaukee.

The control board, Minahan said, is understood to be considering Appleton and several other cities as sites for a relocated headquarters.

The headquarters currently is in Marinette, but, Minahan said, the WIAA control board desires to change to a more central location in the state.

Controls Sports

The WIAA is the control medium for all state high school sports. It licenses officials, assigns tournament dates and sites, passes on player eligibility and sets rules for all high school sports and players.

The board of control is composed of C. E. Wetmore, Sun Prairie, president; R. G. Hein, Waukesha, vice president; H. J. Antholz, Spooner, treasurer; E. C. Knutson, Westby; M. M. Lanphere, Stratford, and John E. Roberts, executive secretary at Marinette.

Board members made no mention of the proposed switch at their December meeting, which in prior meetings have discussed Stevens Point.

Working in the headquarters as assistant to Roberts are Les. C. Ansgore, former Menasha high school coach, and about a half dozen clerks and stenographers.

Inquest Into Last '57 Road Death Slated Thursday

An inquest will be opened at 4 o'clock Thursday afternoon by Outagamie County Coroner Bernard H. Kemps into the death of Lawrence V. Grabow, 45, 207 S. Walnut street, who died Dec. 22 in a highway crash.

Grabow was a passenger in a car driven by Charles A. Cairns, 29, 720 N. Oneida street, when it collided with a car driven by Roger A. McKellips, 24, route 1, Ogdensburg. The cars collided on Highway 45 southeast of Hortonville. The right fronts of both cars were damaged and the collision took place nearly in the center of the roadway, county police reported.

Grabow's death was the last highway fatality of 1957 in Outagamie county.

The inquest will be held in the municipal court room in the county courthouse, Dist. Atty. George A. Greisch will question witnesses.

Called for the inquest are Cairns, McKellips, County Police Sgt. George Elise and Deputy Sheriff Frank Post.

Daily Worker Dies On 34th Birthday

New York —A— The Daily Worker, the main voice of communism in the United States, died with Monday's edition.

Publication was suspended on its 34th birthday. Lack of financial support killed the paper. Its weekend edition, called The Worker, will continue — at least until next Sunday.

Monday's Daily Worker carries two banner headlines shouting defiantly: "We'll Be Back! Fighting for Peace, Democracy and Socialism."

The paper's demise came a few days after John Gates, its editor-in-chief, resigned his post and from the party.

Gates, who had refused to have the paper follow a strict Moscow line, charged the decision to abandon the Daily Worker was "murder" by party officials who no longer were able to control the paper.

The fate of the Sunday edition remains in doubt. Simon Gerson, executive editor, would say only that next Sunday's edition will be published.

McCoy Associates, Appleton, has filed articles of incorporation at the office of Stephen M. Peeters, Outagamie county register of deeds. The firm has been engaged to handle fund raising for the new St. Mary hospital on Green Bay's west side.

Listed as incorporators were Joseph B. McCoy, William J. Bleier and Urban P. Van Susteren, all of Appleton. The fund drive is underway and will end about April 15. Goal is set for $1,000,000. Pledges are being solicited in Green Bay and surrounding areas.

Property transfers recorded at Peeters' office include: A. Edward Mayer and others to Mr. and Mrs. Leo J. Coffey, a lot in Kaukauna.

Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Keberlein to Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin H. Wheaton, a parcel of land in Appleton.

Three-Quarter-Mile 41 Site Committee's Choice

Aldermen Want 41 to Be Built at Point North of Present Bed

If Highway 41 is to be transformed into a 4-lane super expressway, Appleton's street and sanitation committee wants it to be built at a point generally three-quarters of a mile north of and parallel to the present highway roadbed.

Acting after a request from Roy Empey, division engineer for the state highway department, the committee threw its support for a proposed site at a point where it will least interfere with private property.

County Department

The same request on relocation feeling was made of the county highway department, although that group has not submitted a formal statement as yet. The Appleton committee was led to believe by some of its members Tuesday, however, that the county department favors construction at a point on or near the three-quarter mile mark.

In joint discussions with Empey, city and county committee members were briefed on engineering findings which establish that the highway, if relocated, should be built at one of two points within a mile-wide band north of the present road.

Empey has outlined the problems involved in constructing the road at a point closer to the existing road, or a point more distant.

Commuter Traffic

It will be difficult, he has stated, to induce commuter traffic onto the highway if it is built at a point too distant from the present road. Thus the new highway might not be travelled by local traffic in the immediate future, but its use would increase with the passage of time and the expansion of Appleton outward.

If the road were to be constructed at a point closer to the city, he has pointed out, the problem of disrupting a great number of private homes arises, thus arousing the feelings of those dwellers concerned. This problem diminishes, he says, as consideration is given to points more distant, but still within the 1-mile strip.

When all findings are in, Empey will report to the state highway commission, which will fix a construction point if it deems relocation and construction necessary.

Dr. Knight to Talk to Alumni

Meetings Planned on Both Coasts for January, February

President Douglas M. Knight will cover the four points of the compass in the next two months, meeting with Lawrence alumni clubs over the nation.

Last week he and Mrs. Knight met with Lawrentians in Miami, Fla., at the apartment of Dr. and Mrs. A. M. McCallen in the veteran's hospital, formerly the Biltmore hotel. Co-chairmen with the McCalls were Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. Hague.

On Jan. 23, Alumni Director Bill Burton and Admissions Counselor Don Laffin will travel to Eau Claire, where alumni of that and the Chippewa Falls area will hold a dinner at the Eau Claire hotel under the chairmanship of Mrs. Bailey Ramsdell. Speakers for the evening will be Dean Marshall B. Hulbert and Tom Dietrich, architect in residence, who will give a painting demonstration.

Early in February, Dr. Knight will be on the east coast for alumni meetings in Boston and New York. The Boston meeting, Feb. 13, is under the chairmanship of Charlton Davis; the New York gathering, at the Barclay hotel is planned by David Knickel.

Western states will be covered the following week. Dr. Knight will be in Denver, Colo., Feb. 24 with chairman Richard Graef at the Cosmopolitan club; in Los Angeles, Calif., at the Town and Gown room of the USC campus, where John Hollingsworth is planning the gathering; and in Seattle, Wash., on Feb. 28 at the Edmond Meany hotel. Co-chairmen of the latter event are Ted Kramer and Andrew Gebaroff.

'Secedes' From U. S., Won't Pay His Taxes

Town of Bovina Farmer Forms Own Nation; County Board in Quandary

A man living on an 80-acre farm in the town of Bovina who has seceded from the town, the county and the United States to form his own country will continue to live on his farm without paying taxes until the Outagamie county board and Bovina officials decide what they can do.

Dohr

The county board of supervisors today discussed at length the case of Henry Smith, whose farm is on the Bovina-Black Creek town line and lies on both sides of County Trunk A. The county some years ago took a tax deed to the property when Smith declined to pay any more. However, the county did not take possession of the farm and Smith has continued to live on it.

Why Pay Taxes?
Corporation Counsel Raymond Dohr reported that when he and Supv. George Miller Shiocton, visited Smith, the farmer told them he had formed his own country and did not have to pay any taxes.

Dohr added that the farmer, in his 70s, apparently had sufficient money to pay his taxes—about $2,000—but has refused to do so for the last seven or eight years. Dohr said the property was worth more than the taxes and the county board's executive committee for the last few years has operated with the idea of letting Smith live on the farm since the county could recover its taxes after sale of the property. Bovina Supv. Ervin Conradt asked how long Smith could live on the farm after the county had a tax deed on it.

"As long as we let him," Dohr replied.

"Why should any of us pay taxes, then?" asked Conradt.

Supv. Fred Krause said with high taxes and all, "we ought to get together and run Henry for president."

"He's the smartest man in the county," chimed in Supv. Frank Appleton.

Conradt estimated the farm was worth about $2,000.

No Publicity, Please
"I want to ask the Post-Crescent to keep this out of the paper—some of us have problems just like this and pretty soon no one will be paying taxes," Supv. Emmett W. Root from the town of Ellington, said.

Dohr pointed out that if the town board of Bovina wished, it could go through county court and have a guardian appointed for Smith if the court ruled that the man was mentally incompetent. Smith has no relatives and is a bachelor, Dohr added.

The board decided to have its executive committee confer with the Bovina board to see if a guardianship can be established so the county can get its tax money.

Police Ordered to Call Any Ambulance

Supervisors Once Again Redefine Fight Now Two Years Old; Reverse Committee

The nearest ambulance will be called to accidents rather than splitting the calls between Appleton's two services, the county board decided today.

The action reverses that of the board's traffic police and radio committee in October. During the board's November meeting supervisors redrafted the county versus Lindy's ambulance fight in 1956.

Supv. Emmett Root, Ellington, asked the board to let traffic policemen on the scene decide which ambulance to call. "I'm not driving nails for anyone, but we shouldn't tell a policeman which ambulance to call," Root declared.

Grand Chute Supv. Arthur Lecker told the board that the ambulance fight had been raging ever since he got on the traffic committee and if the board reversed the committee there was no reason to have a committee.

"We'll just come in and sign bills—why should we act like a committee if the board reverses us?" complained Lecker.

Asks More Time
Appleton Supv. Patrick Heenan, who heads the traffic committee, told the board that both Larry's and Lindy's ambulance service have receivers for police calls and they had raced to accident scenes.

"We wanted to stop that. There's more to this than meets the eye—more than calling an ambulance. If the board will give us another month or two, we can work this out."

Heenan said there had been bickering over the ambulance service for two years and finally, after traffic police had ignored the committee's instructions to call the nearest ambulance, the unit decided to split calls on alternate months.

Appleton Supv. Gordon A. Schultz reminded the supervisors that Linzmeyer served a $10,000 "ultimatum on the county when the city had a $4,000 contract with him," Schultz stated that the fees for ambulance runs from St. Elizabeth hospital to the county hospital were double the present cost when Linzmeyer operated the only ambulance service in Appleton.

Voting against reversing the action of the traffic police committee were Heenan, Lecker and Max M. Kuehn, Appleton, members of the committee, and Supvs. Joseph Cummings, Glenn Pelton, Phillip Retson, all of Appleton, and J. W. Weyenberg, Kaukauna.

Get Public On Your Side, Teenagers Told

Madison Man Speaks To Safety Council, Offers Suggestions

Gaining solid public support for its program should be the first endeavor of the Outagamie County Teenage Safety council, R. C. Salisbury, director of the state motor vehicle department's safety division said Monday.

Salisbury, who addressed the council at the courthouse, said active help of parents, teachers and civic leaders is essential to make the group's work effective.

In answer to a question from the floor, Salisbury cited two specific areas in which the council could render valuable assistance to the state. He pointed out that gaining public acceptance of father-and-son, father-and-daughter, or family agreements would do much toward achieving safer driving among families.

The agreements, although not legally binding, are pledges between parents and their youngsters to live up to specified safety regulations while driving the family car, regardless of which party is behind the wheel, he said.

Accurate Statistics
Salisbury also stressed importance of teenagers providing accurate statistical information on accidents of which they have direct knowledge. He said through the compilation of these statistics, the state motor vehicle department could provide fuller recommendations for the reduction of highway tragedies.

Salisbury pointed out 10 areas of accident prevention in which the state has long been active and would continue its work. He cited better laws, more complete records, youth education, enforcement, courts, driver licensing, engineering, vehicle design, vehicle maintenance and education of the public.

Referring to driver education programs, Salisbury said the most important factor was for the trainee to attain the proper attitude toward driving.

Prior to Salisbury's talk, the teenage council passed a resolution of the governing board to change by-laws in order to elect new members of the governing board at the May meeting. Previously, new members were named in November, after the opening of school.

The council's next meeting will be at 8 o'clock on Feb. 10 at the courthouse.

Too Concerned With Temporal Things, Rev. Seidler Contends

The world today is in a dilemma because it has not raised its eyes to the true setting of the eternal soul of man. It has shifted its emphasis from the eternal to the temporal.

That was the contention of the Rev. John Seidler, pastor of St. John Evangelical and Reformed church, in his Sunday morning sermon. "Men set the tone for living by striving after an accumulation of gadgets for a comfortable and prolonged life here on earth. But with all the getting, the atmosphere remains charged with uneasiness and misgiving. With all the concrete assurances of better living, peace of mind and heart and soul eludes them."

Taste Is Flat "And the taste of life is flat and the hope of life is lost. Some leading contemporary minds claim ours is such an age and it is not difficult to follow their thinking."

Eternity is the only dimension that can give man's life any perspective, the minister went on. It is the depth of life that counts and it is the Christian gospel that points out life's proper setting, he asserted.

This age has in common with Isaiah a confused, contentious, contrary world, the Rev. Mr. Seidler continued. Man is speculating with outer space missiles and satellites. The means of dealing with the enemy have improved, but the method is still the same, he said. Man is emphasizing the wrong values, he stated. "We have shifted the accent from the good to the useful. Instead of asking whether a thing is completely true and just and honorable, we have learned to ask if it's practical and expedient, whether it gives us the advantage over others and, if it does, we find it easy to compromise with our conscience. If need be, we close an eye to whatever principle may be involved."

"But Christian conduct is more than that," he continued, "it goes beneath the surface of doing things. It is right living. It is being just and honest. Christian conduct must, first of all, connect itself with the essential nature and purpose of God. It doesn't matter one bit how useless we think a thing is. If it's right, it will be useful in the sight of God even if we can't figure it out for the moment."

"The gospel points out our life's proper setting. It makes us conscious that this planet is not our true home, that we are strangers here, that we are citizens of another kingdom—the kingdom of God. We were redeemed for that," he concluded.

Bulgarian Would Defer Foreign Ministers Talk
Cairo — The newspaper Al Shaab said Monday Soviet Premier Bulganin has told President Nasser that Russia would not object to a foreign ministers conference after an east-west summit conference. The newspaper said Bulganin made this statement in a message to Nasser Jan. 8 hailing the outcome of the African-Asian conference held here the last week in December.

Point Four Technicians Have Created Good Will Aboard

BY WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Foreign News Analyst

New York.—P.—In Arab Lebanon, a housewife says to the grocer: "Give me a half dozen Point Four eggs."
In Iran, a Persian tribe, overwhelmed with gratitude, took a solemn oath to "protect Point Four and its people at all times." Once when the U. S. aid program was threatened, the tribe was ready to march on Teheran.
In Tunisia a businessman pleads with the Americans to triple technical assistance.
In Paraguay, a farmer says he is proud that such a great power as the United States sends people to help his little country.
In the developing economic-political global war with communism technical assistance may look like only a minor skirmish. But it is one field in which Americans have been successful, one field in which Americans have built up more gratitude than resentment. It has left a deep and lasting mark in many a struggling country.

Wants Top Quality

Most people in the world's underdeveloped countries still refer to the U. S. program by its original name: Point Four. Now it's under the international cooperation administration.
When the Lebanese housewife demands "Point Four eggs," she means the high-grade eggs produced by American agriculture experts in Lebanon. The eggs are greatly superior to the unpalatable local variety.
When the tribesmen swore to protect American technicians, they were mindful of a project which once was a butt of Washington jokes. American hygiene experts and not enough men in the field. Likewise, there has been criticism that the technical staffs, adding to the large numbers of Americans abroad often cause local resentments.

An Associated Press survey indicates, however, that of all Americans abroad, the technical experts are the least resented. Indeed, in many places, they are highly popular. There are some outstanding exceptions.
There are some "bad ones," the survey shows: A few loud-mouths; the heavy drinking, high living ones who arouse local annoyance. But among the technicians, these are the exceptions. On the whole, the survey shows, the technicians are among the most popular Americans overseas.

Expert's Problems

An ICA official in the Middle East put it this way:
"An expert technician with many years' experience, much sought after at home, finds difficulty adjusting to the strange ways of the east. It is probably his first trip away from home. He eats uncooked vegetables and salad, and gets dysentery. The food is unpalatable. Everywhere he encounters language difficulties. Perhaps he has been taken by Arab merchants, mainly because he didn't understand 'bargaining'.
"He gets crochety and turns on Arabs working with him. They do not understand the real reason, and trouble begins. It is not long before the rest of us have been branded with the same iron, though we have succeeded in adjusting ourselves to local conditions."
The same can be said of almost any underdeveloped area. In addition, the lack of available good people results in many projects being sprinkled with incompetents, career bureaucrats and adventure seekers who insist on all the comforts of home and hesitate to adapt to local conditions. These are the ones who create "Little Americas" and raise resentments. There are some like this in the diplomatic service, too.

Create Good Will

But among technicians, such "bad ones" are not representative. Many experts work devotedly in uncomfortable, remote villages, building up a well of gratitude and good will among local populations.

Macmillan Wants To Link 3 Pacts

Karachi, Pakistan.—P.—British Prime Minister Macmillan said Monday he favors links between NATO, the Baghdad pact and SEATO.
"Certainly the more information and ideas that can be exchanged the better," he told a news conference.
Macmillan's replies to questions indicated he referred principally to liaison between the three defensive alliances against communism. He declined to say whether he believes the links should include mutual guarantees against aggression which would, for example, bring NATO members to the defense of an attacked Baghdad pact member.

The secretaries general of the three alliances are corresponding to see how closer ties might be developed, Macmillan said. "It needs to be approached tentatively," he added. "I think it would be unwise of me to go beyond that point."

State Official Recommends New Junior High Facilities

Suggests New School in Path Of City Growth

Neenah — New junior high school facilities on a 15 to 20-acre plot were recommended by Arthur R. Page, assistant superintendent of public instruction, it was announced Monday evening at the school board meeting. Page's letter was a reply to a request for suggestions from the special citizen's committee studying Neenah's junior high school situation.

Page said that the present site of Kimberly school is far too small to be adequate for the future, even if adjacent lots are purchased. He suggested that the Kimberly building be continued as a junior high after remodeling for a maximum of 300 pupils (it now has about 350) and a new building be erected in the path of the general population growth. Page said it might be a good idea to include elementary school and junior high school facilities, with the elementary school drawing pupils only from the immediate area and the junior high school from a much larger area.

In one meeting on matters of principle which would affect students for 50 years to come. He stated that any building would have to be flexible enough, by means of movable partitions and expandable sections, to take care of any changes in the manner of teaching. Sund also said a combination gymnasium and auditorium in a new or remodeled building would be satisfactory, provided acoustical tile were installed in the ceiling and the building was designed to permit the addition of an auditorium if the need ever arose. When the new Neenah High school gymnasium was built the acoustical ceiling was not installed and the room has proven too noisy for anything but athletic events.

Board Again to Seek $3,000 for Building Study

Neenah — The board of education Monday night instructed Supt. of Schools Harold B. Mennes to write to the city council again to request $3,000 for architectural and engineering services in the study of junior high school facilities. The council referred the original request to a committee and nothing has been heard since.

The original request was proposed Dec. 9. The board also suggested the council join in a study to see if a remodeled Kimberly school building would serve best as part of a new junior high school system or as additional city office facilities. A special citizens committee of 11 persons is studying the junior high school problem.

The board has predicted that facilities for 700 pupils must be under construction by fall of this year. The present enrollment of Kimberly school is about 350 pupils, but a large wave of elementary school pupils is expected to swell the enrollment within a few years. A projection of census figures shows that slightly more than 400 pupils will need junior high facilities by 1959, and 500 by 1963. The long range outlook is for 600 to 700 pupils.

Board Questions Council's Right to List Budget Cuts

Thinks Aldermen Acted Illegally in Striking Specific Items From Request

Neenah — Opinions will be sought from the city attorney and the state department of public instruction regarding the council's right to tell the board of education how to spend its money, it was re-vealed at the board's meeting Monday.

The council on Dec. 18 reduced the school board's requested budget of $1,056,652 to $1,025,000, and passed a resolution refusing to grant $9,000 for an acoustical ceiling at the Neenah High school gymnasium.

Supt. of Schools Harold B. Mennes said that he did not believe the council had the right to itemize things which the schools could not have. He said he thought the council's power was limited solely to specifying the amount of money which the board might have for the year, and that it was up to the board to spend the money as it saw fit.

Mennes said that a telephone conversation with an official of the state department confirmed his opinion and as soon as sufficient legal information available, the committee hopes organizations will observe a "Brotherhood week" by including a program on human relations in their February calendar.

Libraries Get Literature on Brotherhood

Pamphlets to Aid Organizations in Planning Programs

Neenah — Program planning for National Brotherhood week Feb. 16 to 23, was begun at the Neenah public library Monday when the Menasha librarian, Marvin Melick, and the Neenah librarian, Miss Mae Hart, were presented a collection of human relations literature.

Supt. of Schools Harold B. Mennes suggested it might be wise to do away with period-long study halls and offer an extra subject instead. Also mentioned was the possibility of reducing the number of periods from seven to six, simultaneously lengthening the periods to provide for a short study session in each class. A program with no study halls would require no large rooms in the building.

Race Develops As 3 Candidates Take Out Papers

Murphy, Dix to Run
In Fifth Ward; Luebke
To Seek Reelection

Neenah — Another race for alderman developed this morning when two candidates took out papers for the Fifth ward post. Incumbent Ray Murphy will compete with Aaron E. Dix.

In addition Dan Luebke, president of the council, took out nomination papers for Seventh Ward alderman.

In the Fifth ward only one alderman will be elected, due to the recent redistricting of the city into 10 wards. Aid. Gilbert Krueger of the Fifth ward has already said that he will not seek reelection.

Murphy will be running for his third term on the council. He has served one 2-year term and one 1-year term. He is a member of the health and welfare committee and the plans commission, and was chairman of the special committee on council reorganization last year.

Murphy, 49, has lived in Neenah for 30 years and in the Fifth ward for 19 years. His home is at 412 Tenth street. He is originally from Appleton. He is married and has four sons. Murphy is active in the parent teacher association and youth committee at St. Patrick school. He is lockup foreman at the George Banta company.

Postpone Action On Gillingham School Location

Board to Have Choice
Of 10 Acre Site for Education, Park Uses

Neenah — The board of education Monday night held over for further study the question of where to build a new school in the Gillingham plat on the southwest side of the city.

An indefinite 10-acre area in the 80-acre development has been set aside by the developers. Farms, Inc., for school and park purposes and is to be given to the city, according to the Supt. of Schools Harold B. Mennes.

Board opinions favored locating the school near the southwest corner of the subdivision. The present city limits include less than half of the subdivision. The general area of the two children in the Neenah school system. He lives at 127 Fifth street.

Luebke presently represents a site exactly one mile south of the old Fourth ward but lives west of the Hoover school. This at 109 S. Lake street, in the new Seventh ward. He is chairman of the committees on public works and street and sanitation, he said. Board members favoring a site farther to the southwest so that the new school would not be too close to the Tullar school in the town of Neenah, should that area ever come into the city.

Not Until 1963
Definite school planning in this area is still a long way off. At present there are very few homes in the Gillingham plat, which is west of Highway 41 and south of Highway 114.

Last March the board said that architectural services would probably be needed by spring of 1962 and the building itself would be needed in September, 1963. The board has been asked to choose a site as soon as possible, however, so that the subdividers, Farms, Inc., can begin developing the area.

The board approved a one year teaching contract for Miss Margaret Van Hulst for $4,140. Miss Van Hulst will replace Miss Marjorie Gerhard as fifth grade teacher at Wilson school. Miss Gerhard has resigned, effective Thursday, to be married.

Mennes and Frank X. Hochholzer will attend the Wisconsin School Board convention at Milwaukee Jan. 23 and 24, and Mennes will go to the American Association of School Administrators meetings at St. Louis Feb. 21 through 25.

The board ordered payment of bills for January totaling $79,715.

He has waived preliminary examination and has asked the court to appoint counsel for him.

Bond will continue at $1,000.

Indiana '5' Ties Michigan for Big Ten Lead

Hands Minnesota First League Loss; NU Nudges Iowa

By The Associated Press

The Big Ten basketball campaign opened 10 days and 16 games ago. Today, not a single team remains undefeated.

Minnesota, the last of the unmarked, stumbled before Indiana Monday night as the Hoosiers climbed into a first place tie with Michigan.

Indiana romped past Minnesota, 85-64, while Michigan measured Ohio State, 72-63, in a pair of home-court victories.

Northwestern nipped Iowa, 82-80, in overtime at Iowa City and Wisconsin edged Illinois, 71-70, at Champaign.

Jerry Thompson netted 24 points and Archie Dees, the Big Ten's leading scorer, added 22 in leading the Hoosier rout. It was Indiana's third conference triumph in four games, all scored on the Hoosier home court. George Kline hit 20 points for the Gophers who never threatened after the early minutes of play.

Tillotson Leads Attack

Michigan overcame a 2-point Ohio State halftime lead and defeated the Buckeyes going away. Pete Tillotson again headed the Wolverine attack. Tillotson tossed in 18 points while three other Michigan players scored in double figures.

Frank Howard and Joe Carlson had 14 points each for the Buckeyes.

The title-minded Wildcats posted their second triumph in three games and their first away-from-home Big Ten victory in three years by coming from behind after blowing a 10-point lead.

Iowa managed to tie the score and went ahead by four points before Nick Mantis scored a basket and a pair of free throws to tie the score. Northwestern gained possession and took a final shot but missed and regulation play ended with the score 74-74.

Phil Warren missed the vital shot but scored in the final seconds of the overtime for the triumph which pushed the Wildcats into third place.

Navy's Erdelatz Cruising Campus Of Texas Aggies

College Station, Tex. — Navy's Eddie Erdelatz, latest big time football coach to cruise to the Texas A&M campus, said he's free to drop anchor if he is offered the Aggie post today.

But about the only other positive fact to emerge from a flurry of developments Monday was that Erdelatz has a return trip airline ticket to Annapolis.

Jim Myers of Iowa State, the top prospect before Erdelatz was secretly interviewed by A&M representatives, was jettisoned Monday, leaving Erdelatz the only coach under consideration.

Paul Bryant left A&M to return to his alma mater, Alabama.

The Dallas News said Myers never gained approval of the college board of directors.

Washington — Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick said today he has not altered his opposition to plans of six major league clubs to televise Sunday games next season. He said it would hurt minor leagues.

Packers Sign Baylor Guard

Clyde Letbetter Performed in 2 Post-Season Tilts

Green Bay — Ray "Scott" McLean, Green Bay Packers coach, announced Monday that Clyde Letbetter, Baylor university football star, has signed a 1958 professional contract.

"Letbetter will be used as a guard and also will be given a thorough try at a defensive end position," said the Packers' new head coach.

Co-Captain of West

Letbetter was a starting guard and co-captain of the West team in the annual East-West game at San Francisco last month and played in the Senior bowl game at Mobile last Saturday.

He won his first Baylor letter in 1953, playing as a tackle. After his sophomore year, he played two seasons of military football at Fort Lee, Va., then returned to Baylor, playing at guard his final two seasons. He was picked as the most valuable player in the 1957 Sugar bowl game because of his defensive work against Tennessee.

Letbetter was the Packers' twentieth choice in the 1956 National Football league draft.

ers are back on the 1957-8 Ripon team.

The trio of losses to Ripon last year are part of the 28-game losing streak with which the Vikes are now burdened.

Have 8 Lettermen

Ripon, with a 2-4 Midwest conference record, has played somewhat below expectations thus far this season. The Redmen boast a solid crop of eight lettermen, including all-conference guard Rush. The others are Kasson, Stuessi, Pete Mattacci, Dan Anderson, Paul Martin, Bob Spangler and Al Peters.

Clintonville's Kasson is the all-around athletic whiz who was recently named Little All-American in football. Kasson and football star Bob Osiewalski, of Menasha, are two of the "near misses" for the Lawrence bureau of admissions. Both strongly considered enrolling at Lawrence before changing their minds in favor of Ripon.

Among the promising sophs on the Redmen quint are Green Bay's Vern Lewellen and Oshkosh's Dick Celichowski, both of whom played on recent Fox River Valley conference championship teams.

Russ Young, former West DePere High school coach, is in his second year at Ripon. Don Boya is in his first coaching year at Lawrence.

Viking Frosh Seek 2nd Straight Win

The Lawrence college freshman basketball team, coached by John Landis, will play the Ripon frosh in a preliminary to the varsity game Wednesday night in the Redmen's gym. The Vike yearlings beat Stevens Point in their only other official start this season.

In fact, only seniors Bill Wood and Jack Leatham have ever played in a game won by Lawrence. They were reserves in the second game of the 1955-6 season in which the Vikes beat Oshkosh, 78-63.

Wrigley Field Is Probable Dodger Home

'Wanderers' Retain Outside Chance of Getting Coliseum

Los Angeles — The Los Angeles Dodgers — America's last great wandering tribe — were all but resigned today to settling down in Wrigley field, a place where the pews are few and the car space sparse.

But there still appeared to be an outside chance that they would add a surprise finale to the season's daffiest baseball drama by getting a berth in spacious Memorial coliseum.

Another Pitch

The coliseum commission planned to meet today and was expected to hear another pitch on behalf of the Dodgers. Mayor Norris Poulson told The Associated Press one of his three representatives on the commission would reintroduce a motion to let the Dodgers set up home plate in the west end of the Coliseum.

The last time this motion was introduced, the commission deadlocked, 4-4. But it was presented then with a proviso — that the commission take no action unless the Dodgers stopped negotiating for use of the Rose bowl in Pasadena. The Rose bowl negotiations collapsed Monday because of the cost that would be involved in modifying the stadium for baseball use.

County Supervisor Kenneth Hahn predicted that the coliseum commission, of which he is a member, would approve the west end home plate location unanimously. The Dodgers want the plate there so the sun won't shine in the eyes of batters.

Mayor Poulson said he thought the plan would receive the necessary six votes when presented to the 9-man commission.

Fox Cities Baseball Directors to be Picked Wednesday

Smith Will Give Stock Drive Report at Elks Club Meeting

The 1958 board of directors of the new Fox Cities Baseball club will be elected Wednesday night in the Appleton Elks club. The meeting is open to the public.

The meeting, scheduled to start at 7:30, is a continuation of the Dec. 11 stockholders' session. Directors decided to postpone the election until more Fox Citizens could be contacted during the current fund campaign.

Dave Smith, finance chairman, will present an up-to-the-minute report on the status of the stock-selling drive. At the last meeting he reported that $8,800 of the $15,000 goal had been raised or pledged.

Directorship Increased

Stockholders have voted to increase the number of directorships from 15 to 21, with each of the Fox Cities to gain representation.

Up to now, the business of the organization has been conducted by the directors of the Appleton Baseball club—the forerunner of the new Fox Cities organization.

The current directors are Andrew Parnell, John Wissman, S. M. Timmers, Robert Biesmann, Dave Smith, John Riedl, Nate Spector, George Johnson, Arthur Benson, Ray McClone, Clarence Below, Arthur Jones, J. R. Whitman, William Schubert and Walter Gresens.

Three major steps in the activation of the new Three-I league (Class B) baseball club have been taken in the five weeks since the last official meeting.

The Fox Cities club signed a working agreement with Washington, acquired Pete Suder as field manager and named Bob Willis business manager.

Preps Will Not Adopt New Conversion Rule

National Unit Declines to Follow Collegiate Action

Chicago — The nation's public high school football teams will not follow the colleges in granting a double extra point for a successful run or pass after touchdown. A national high school athletic official, H. V. Porter, executive secretary of the National Federation of State High School Athletic associations, said the trend in high school is in the opposite direction — to grant bonus points for kicking instead of rushing or passing.

Porter said the double extra point for running and passing adopted Sunday by the rules committee of the National Collegiate Athletic association, received "almost no favorable sentiment" when it was discussed last week by high school officials meeting in Lexington, Ky.

The annual meeting of the National Alliance Football committee decided, instead, to study the desirability of upping the field goal from three to four points.

The NAFC is made up of representatives of the Federation, the National Junior College Athletic association and the NAIA, a small college group.

"The general feeling prevailed that football is a kicking game and that there should be more kicking, not less," Porter said.

Washington of St. Louis Defeats Beloit, 65-57

St. Louis — Bob Garrett's 26 points propelled Washington to a 65-57 non-conference basketball victory over Beloit college Monday night.

With two minutes and 43 seconds left, Washington led 59-56 when Harold Patton dropped in six straight free throws—the only ones of the game.

Beloit led, 32-29, at halftime. Beloit Williams took scoring honors for the Buccaneers with 14 points.

Cramer Leads Field in 'Star Pin Tourney

Albany Kegler Hits 3rd Best Qualifying Score in History

Minneapolis — There's likely to be at least one new face in the finals of the seventh annual All-Star Bowling tournament.

At least it looked that way at the end of three days of qualifying rounds. Morris Cramer, a 140-pound bowling proprietor from Albany, N. Y., was leading the 192-man field Monday night with a tremendous 3,915 pin total, the third highest 18-game qualifying score in the history of the tournament. Chuck O'Donnell of St. Louis owns the record, a 4,031 he put together in 1950.

No Flash in Pan
Veteran tournament campaigners insist that Cramer is no flash in the pan and that despite his frail appearance he has the endurance to withstand this grueling competition. They point to his achievements in the Newsday classic on Long Island, N. Y., which he has won for the last two years. The Newsday event is based on a format almost identical to the All-Star and places a premium on physical endurance. Further, Cramer has the experience of three All-Stars behind him.

His 205 average in three Albany leagues indicates the level of his bowling ability.

The men's field was to go through its final qualifying paces today. At the conclusion of the day the top 94 scorers will be pared from the field and elevated to the semi-finals Wednesday.

The women's field was sliced in two Monday night after three days and 12 games of qualifying action. The top 46 scorers (plus Marion Ladewig of Grand Rapids, Mich., and Detroit's Anita Cantaline, who are exempt) were elevated to the semi-finals; the remaining 48 were evicted.

Marge Merrick, a 33-year-old bowling teacher from Dearborn, Mich., led the women through the preliminaries with a 2288 aggregate. She topped off her performance with a 225-204-177-168-774 last Monday.

Hank Discusses Batting

Aaron Predicts Mantle Can be .400 Hitter

Milwaukee —P— Hank Aaron, on of the Milwaukee Braves, a natural hitter if there ever was one, predicted today that the Yankees' Mickey Mantle will be baseball's next .400 hitter.

"He's a really great hitter," said Aaron. "He has the power, the consistency and the speed to hit 400 and I think he'll do it one of these seasons."

Aaron and Mantle won the 1957 National League batting title, 365 to 368, and well down the list in homers and RBIs. The switch-hitting Yankee hit 34 homers and drove in 94 runs.

In There Swinging

Aaron, who never tires of talking about his favorite subject—hitting—said he doubts he'll ever average 4 for 10 in an entire campaign.

"When I leave the bench," he said, "I go up there swinging. The ball may be over my head, but I'll still take a cut at it if I think I can get a good piece of it."

most valuable player awards for their respective leagues this past season.

The 23-year-old Braves slugger finished atop the National league in homers, with 44, and runs batted in, with 132, but had to settle for a .322 batting average.

Mantle finished second to Ted Williams in the race for the American league batting title, 365 to 368, and well down the list in homers and RBIs. The switch-hitting Yankee hit 34 homers and drove in 94 runs.

Rog Brandt unloaded the top series, a 600, in the Tap A Keg league at the Barn Tavern. Al Roehl's 588 threesome paced the Comic Couples circuit at Hahn's.

Hangen Slaps 580

Game and series honors both went to Stan Hangen in the Trinity circuit at Hahn's. He rattled scores of 222 and 580.

George Froehlich's 559 total topped Hahn's Cigarette Couples circuit. Phil Burmeister constructed the top solo, a 201, and the leading series, a 556, in the Sportsmen's loop at Hahn's.

Rosie Peerenboom slapped the best series, a 491, in the Air Corps wheel at the Elks club.

Eisenhower Asks For $915,000 To Fight Lamprey

Washington —P— Congress was urged Monday by President Eisenhower to provide money for continuing efforts to rid the Great Lakes of the destructive sea lamprey.

He asked in his budget message that $915,000 be provided the Great Lakes Fishery commission for the year starting July 1. An equal amount was available for the control program in the current fiscal year.

Altogether, congress has appropriated more than 2½ million dollars for the work, undertaken jointly with Canada.

The budget said a new feature of the fight on the lamprey in the new fiscal year will be the use of specific toxicants that kill lampreys and lamprey larvae.

Entry Blanks For '500' Mailed Out

Speedway President Predicts Record Race May 30

Indianapolis, Ind. —P— Tony Hulman, president of Indianapolis Motor Speedway, predicted a record-breaking 500-mile race May 30 as entry blanks were mailed to car owners today.

He said the engineers and mechanics will have the benefit of last year's experience with smaller engines. The maximum piston displacement was cut almost 10 per cent after the 1956 race.

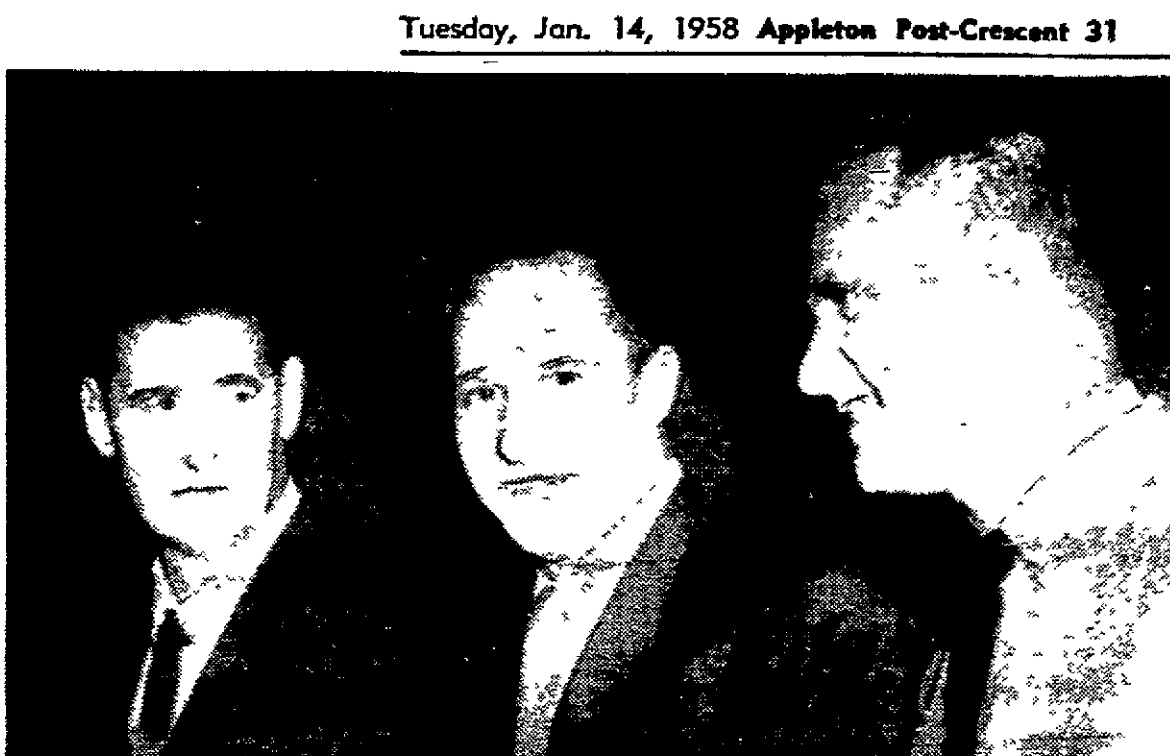

Led by Sam Hanks at 136.6 miles an hour, the first 11 cars in the 1957 race were faster than the previous record, Bill Vukovich's 130.8 of 1954.

Hanks has retired and his record-breaking car will be driven by Jimmy Bryan of Phoenix.

USAC national big car champion the last two years.

Hulman predicted that purses, which reached $300,000 for the first time last year, will exceed that figure in 1958. The Speedway guarantees $75,000 but increases prizes according to gate. Awards from auto accessory and fuel companies also increase the total.

Engine limits will be the same as last year. 170 cubic inches for supercharged engines, 256 for "unblown" engines.

Sheriffs Seek to Instruct Children and Their Parents

BY FRED SNYDER

Madison — Describing children as the nation's most precious asset, a Wisconsin organization points the way for combating a serious and growing problem—child molestation.

The Wisconsin Sheriffs and Deputy Sheriffs association, with headquarters in Milwaukee, has released a brochure it prepared, titled "The Menace of the Friendly Stranger."

It advises parents and children what they should know and do. Widespread distribution of the brochure is planned. At least a half million will be made available. The campaign is believed to be the first of its kind on a local level.

"We're concerned about getting the public concerned and we want to prevent child molestation incidents instead of having to organize manhunts after tragedies occur," says Martin E. Wyrick, executive director of the sheriff's organization. Wyrick wrote and designed the brochure.

Growing Problem

Wyrick points out that molestation is recognized by law enforcement officers on all levels, including J. Edgar Hoover, head of the FBI, as a serious and growing problem.

"Each year shows a distressing increase in the number of vicious assaults on young children of both sexes," Wyrick says.

More interest and cooperation by the public is necessary if the menace is to be curbed, he says. He added his office received almost weekly reports from sheriffs throughout the state telling of molestations or what he terms near-molestations.

And he shudders to think of how many molestations or near-molestations are not officially reported.

"There's urgent need," says Wyrick, "for parents to be concerned with near-molestations as well as actual ones."

Make No Reports

"One problem is that parents, upon learning that a child might have been molested, but wasn't, for personal or other reasons make no report to officials.

"Thus officers are blocked from trying to nab a suspect, who upon being allowed to go undetected, is free to entice another child and the next youngster might be the victim of a tragedy."

Wyrick said his organization would hit distribution of its brochure hard—with officers making personal appearances for short talks to sell their project. Schools and PTA groups will figure in the plan.

Gov. Thomson has seen enough merit in the project to commend publicly sheriffs' organization for its effort. George E. Watson, state superintendent of schools, has expressed interest and made inquiry about plans for distributing the brochure and appearances of speakers.

Can't Arouse Interest

Wyrick's group will absorb the cost of getting out the anticipated 500,000 distribution.

"It's regrettable that public interest can't be aroused until something happens," Wyrick added, stressing that much could be done if parents would cooperate in reporting and helping track down even near-molestation cases. The pamphlet tells how.

The brochure calls the child molester "the most contemptible type of criminal in America today." It adds:

"He is an even greater threat to the peace of mind of the parents than the kidnapper—for his motive is not money, but physical harm and frequently death to his victim."

The association reminds that any child can be a victim and the molester has no single area of operation—he lurks in the city, small town and rural areas.

The brochure urges parents to tell their children:

"Never get in a car with a stranger, even if the stranger says 'your mother sent for you.' Don't go near the car."

"If you see one of your playmates get into a stranger's car, write down the auto license number and notify your parents, teacher or a policeman. If you don't have a pencil scratch the license number in the dirt."

"Never go near a car when asked for directions—stand several feet away from the car."

"Never accept money or gifts from a stranger."

"Never permit a stranger to put his hands on you or touch your clothing."

"Never enter a stranger's room."

"Never play alone in parks or empty buildings."

"When you go to a theater or public place, tell the manager or usher if any person acts too friendly by putting his hands on you or by asking you to go with him for a walk or a ride."

Some rules are suggested for parents:

"Know where your children are at all times; know the character and background of your baby sitter or anyone in whose care you place your children; teach your children the rules of safety, courtesy and fair play; teach your child to respect law and order; make them understand that the police officer is a friend, not a foe."

The pamphlet carries a number of pictures to illustrate what the children should avoid.

Parent Workshop Planned as Part Of Art Classes

Kaukauna—A parents' workshop will be held for adults in conjunction with the regularly sponsored recreation department art classes at the municipal building Saturday, according to Mrs. Roger Belling, instructor.

Purpose of the workshop is not to produce adult art but rather to help the parent, teacher or friend better understand the child's art experience by working side by side with him, using the same materials and receiving motivation directed to his level, according to the instructor.

Parents will be called by the instructor Tuesday evening to ascertain which of the three classes they will attend. This is for the convenience of parents having more than one child enrolled in classes.

High school and upper grade art students meet at 10:30 in the morning, intermediate grade students meet at 1 o'clock in the afternoon and primary grade students meet at 2:30 in the afternoon.

meeting were Mrs. Fred Brasch, Mrs. Walter Vosters, Mrs. Sylvester Langendyke, Mrs. Melvin Strobl, Mrs. Bernard Bongers and Mrs. Lewis McCormick.

Upsets Help Tighten Balance of Race in City Basketball Loop

Kaukauna — Gustman's increased its league lead in the City Basketball league Sunday afternoon by rolling to a 76 to 62 win over Shamrock bar, second place team.

The Irish closed the gap slightly in the third quarter as they outscored the winners 19 to 15 but Gustman's still held a 54 to 45 lead going into the final frame. Gustman's hit 22 points in the final quarter to 17 for the losers to win going away.

Arnold's was still in front, 45 to 26, at the end of the third period and then coasted to the win. Gene Ploetz was high for the winners with 24 points followed by Rich Giordana with 12. Ron Miller paced the losers with 19 points.

Thilco In Overtime
Thilco had to battle from behind in an overtime to defeat last place Nagel's bar in the final game of the day. The winners put on a last half rally to tie the count. Nagel's led 15 to 11 at the quarter and at halftime had a comfortable 30 to 19 lead. Thilco still trailed 42 to 28 going into the final frame.

The winners then rang up 20 points in the final quarter while holding the losers to six to tie the count at 48-all. Thilco was not to be denied and outscored the losers five to three in the overtime. Attention Appleton Property Owners!

Is Your Street Planned for Improvement In 1958?

IF SO, YOU WILL BE INTERESTED IN THE FOLLOWING Questions and Answers

- Q. Does a concrete street cost the property owner much more than other types of street construction?
- A. ABSOLUTELY NOT! CONCRETE on a residential street that has been graded and gravelled WILL COST the property owner in most cases AS LITTLE AS 60c MORE PER FRONT FOOT than asphalt mat on gravel or, APPROXIMATELY $1.25 MORE PER FRONT FOOT than a turnover and seal coat street. (This small difference can be paid over a 5 year period).
- Q. How can the property owner get a street that will best insure his not being reassessed for additional improvements from time to time?
- A. Records show That CONCRETE WILL LAST approximately 4 TO 6 TIMES AS LONG as a 'turnover and seal coat' street and 2 to 3 times as long as an asphalt mat on gravel street. Since surface replacement is reassessed against the property owner, ONLY WITH CONCRETE do you have the best ASSURANCE of NOT BEING REASSESSED for ADDITIONAL street IMPROVEMENTS.
- Q. Does the city as a whole benefit, as well as the property owner, when concrete is requested?
- A. YES! The city benefits in many ways. One of the most important, from an economic standpoint, is in reduced maintenance costs which are paid for out of the 'general fund'. OTHER TYPES OF STREET SURFACING COST FROM 5 TO 8 TIMES AS MUCH TO MAINTAIN!
- Q. Does concrete offer any other advantages besides lasting about 3 times as long as other streets and costing only about 1/5 as much to maintain?
- A. CERTAINLY! Here are some of those advantages:

NO MESSY OIL TRACKED ONTO YOUR DRIVEWAY OR INTO YOUR HOME. (Other types of streets require periodic seal coatings to keep them in a reasonable state of repair).

NO DUSTY CHIPS DURING THE TACK AND SEAL COATING OPERATIONS. (These operations are not required on a concrete street).

NO CHUCKHOLES.

BETTER APPEARANCE. Concrete is brighter and cleaner looking. Concrete dresses up the entire neighborhood.

BETTER DRAINAGE. No 'bird-baths' or standing pools of water on a concrete street. These deficiencies are most common with rolled-type (oil or asphalt) surfaces.

SAFEST. Concrete is the safest pavement . . . wet or dry . . . day or night. Concrete's gritty surface is the most uniformly skid-resistant and at night its bright clean surface reflects more light . . . an important safety feature.

NOTE! IF YOUR STREET IS DUE FOR IMPROVEMENT SOON, IT IS NOT TOO LATE TO INVESTIGATE AND REQUEST CONCRETE. EVEN IF IT HAS BEEN PLANNED FOR SOME LESSER TYPE OF IMPROVEMENT, YOUR STREET STILL COULD BE CHANGED TO CONCRETE.

A Concrete Street Is By Far the Best Buy And With It You Get All Of the Other Advantages

Various Tests for Cancer Outlined for Men, Women

By Joseph G. Molner, M.D.

The health problems which cause 90 per cent of our troubles cast a shadow before them. The other 10 per cent we started all this, added a question about "How is a male tested for cancer?"

includes. Let the minor variations fall as they may. I won't quibble if somebody else says we should include this, or omit that.

Yesterday's letter which we started all this, added a question about "How is a male tested for cancer?"

The two most likely places in a woman are the breasts per cent are and the cervix. Both of these are areas in which regular us, and I did physical examinations will remedy yes-veal trouble from cancer while today to give it is still in the early stage.

Checkups Needed

If people ignore the hackneyed (but wise) advice to have regular physical checkups, then cancer may start, unnoticed, and get too much of a head start. But with regular examination (once in six months, or once a year, plus a reasonable amount of simple information on how to watch for signs of breast cancer, which you can get in a very good leaflet, without charge, from any branch of the American Cancer Society).

Now for cancer tests for a man. Neither of the areas which must be watched closely in women are present in men. So, then, what do we do?

Watch for any sign of anemia which may (may, not must) indicate cancer of stomach or bowel. X-rays are important, of course, and should follow any suspicious sign.

Stomach analysis for acid is a possibility. Examination of stool for traces of blood is important.

Chest X-Ray

The chest X-ray — a routine matter — is the first line of defense against lung cancer. But inquiry about a persistent cough is just as important.

Biopsy is the next step, to be done by examination with anoscope or proctoscope.

Kidney cases: X-ray or cystoscope would be used if blood or pus appears in the urine. A routine urinalysis watches for ground is covered by what you perhaps thought was a "brief" checkup? Actually, a great deal of work is done in a short time.

Circumstances Differ

"Dear Mr. Molner: Do you Tongue or lip: Yet again, the after a routine physical includes a lookout for any change in the membrane which might be suspicious. The same holds true for skin cancer, or moles that become ulcerated or otherwise start to show any sign of change.

There are many more tricks to the trade, which every doctor uses as a matter of fixed policy, but I hope that the above outline shows how a swift and reasonable physical checkup includes the basic precautions necessary to detect cancer.

Did you realize how much ground is covered by what you perhaps thought was a "brief" checkup? Actually, a great deal of work is done in a short time.

Circumstances Differ

"Dear Mr. Molner: Do you Tongue or lip: Yet again, the after a routine physical includes a after a hysterectomy?—Mrs. F. W."

I don't believe in giving them when a woman doesn't need them! Some do, some don't. The circumstances — symptoms, if any — determine that.

X-Ray Treatment

L. B.: All I can say is that X-ray treatment, following surgery for cancer, is often used depending on the circumstances. It is helpful in destroying cancerous fragments which may possibly have escaped the surgery.

Paget - Street Romance Began Just 4 Days Ago

Hollywood — Singer David Street, who married and divorced his fourth wife, Dancer Sharon Lee, within the last month, is marrying actress Debra Paget today. Street, 38, said his marriage to Miss Lee was "on the spur of the moment and we knew it was a mistake immediately."

He and Miss Paget haven't had a formal date and their romance began only four days ago while they watched a television late show. They have known each other, however, since 1945. Street said this is not an impetuous courtship. "I know this is the right one this time," he explained.

This will be the first marriage for Miss Paget, 24, who has seldom been seen in public without her mother, Mrs. Margaret Gibson.

Screen Actress Debra Paget, Once known as the starlet who had never been kissed, and singer, David Street, have announced they will be married tonight. It will be the fifth marriage for the 38-year-old Street and the first for 24-year-old Debra, who once said she was too busy with her career for dates. (AP Wirephoto)

The MMM club of First Methodist church will hold its annual winter square dance jamboree in the recreation room of the church at 8 o'clock Saturday night.

Some 1,500 fans, mostly teenagers but some adults carrying babies in arms, screamed and shouted outside the Wayfarer's chapel during the most tender moments of the non-denominational rites.

Just as Jayne and Mickey were whispering their “I do's,” more than 100 teenagers stormed up a steep hill shouting like a marine landing party, but a cordon of police pushed them back.

Bob Hope, who witnessed the wedding certificate, and actress Marie Windsor were the only Hollywood names who traveled the 30 miles to this remote and lonely site by the Pacific ocean.

The wedding was scheduled for 8 o'clock. But it was 8:45 before the voluptuous bride started down the aisle. She had spent a good 20 minutes posing for photographers on her arrival—even before changing into the 12 yards of pink Brussels lace that was her wedding gown.

After the rites, Jayne and Mickey returned to the church west of Hollywood, he must and posed at the altar for the regiment of photographers. “I love you, I love you,” the two cooed to each other as Townsend, Indianapolis lawyer flash bulbs popped like fire-works.

In Good Taste Attitude of 2nd Mate Important

BY EMILY POST

Dear Mrs. Post: I married for the second time six months ago after having been a widow for several years. Every year on the anniversary of my husband's death I put flowers on his grave. I would like to know if it would be proper to continue my usual practice now that I am married to another man. I have been told by several relatives that it would be very belittling to my present husband to do this. Will you please advise me on this matter?

Answer: There is no reason for discontinuing honoring your first husband's memory by placing flowers on his grave once a year unless you learn that this is making your present husband unhappy.

Main-Dish Soups
Dear Mrs. Post: There is much written today about main-dish soups. I've never served my own specialty to company; just at family meals. This is a chicken corn soup for which the recipe has long been in my family. It really is a whole-meal soup. Would it be suitable to serve to company?

Answer: Admittedly it is not a menu for an important dinner party but, with the addition of salad and dessert, it would be suitable at informal company meals.

Leave Apartment
Dear Mrs. Post: Would it be permissible for a single man to invite two women friends to use his spare bedroom while they are in town attending a convention? Should he sleep elsewhere?

Answer: To be proper, he will have to move out and leave the whole apartment to his two women friends.

Man's Family Treats His 'Ex' Like the Queen of England

DEAR ANN: Two years ago I married a man who had been divorced five years. His wife ran away with his best friend and it was the talk of the town. She left two children and did not even call to see if they were dead or alive for a solid year.

Landers

A short time after I married this man, his former wife appeared in town with a new husband. My in-laws laid out the welcome mat in such grand style you'd have thought she was the Queen of England.

She's been invited to all the family affairs, weddings, birthdays and so on. My husband is deeply hurt and told his family not to include us if she's going to be present.

Now there is constant bickering and fighting. I've heard the family considers us "odd" and "impossible" to get along with. I am sick over this. Please advise.—B. M. K.

If your in-laws choose to give your husband's ex-wife the glad hand instead of the cold shoulder, this is their right. However, it seems to me, that the label "odd" belongs on THEM, not on you and your husband.

Since he's made it clear that he doesn't wish to be involved in family affairs if his ex-wife is going to be present, no more need be said. Your husband's people are using the ex to beat you two over the head for some reason. So why not just stay away from them?

DEAR ANN: I read your article about the guy who fluffed coins with his two buddies in the office and how he always seemed to be the one who lost.

I work behind a lunch counter and I've seen this game played hundreds of times. The "new" man who plays with a set group can never come out winner. He's beat before he begins.

If the new man tosses first, the other two will always have the same side of the coin up. If he tosses last, it's the same story, simply because the experienced tosser knows how to control his coin. I've seen sharpies clean up as many as ten or twelve green-horns at one time.

The smartest thing to do, Mister, is to go Dutch. This way you'll wind up paying for yourself, and nobody else.—B. E. G. old ex-fiance who has just had the shaking up of my life. Please tell me if my former girl friend is over-sensitive or if I'm completely whacky.

We were engaged to be married in March. The girl is a head librarian and smart in the book sense, but she's led a protected life. A few days ago when we were discussing our future, I asked when she planned to have a blood test.

She look at me as if I had slapped her face. She said she'd never been so insulted in her life. She raved that I was implying all sorts of ugly things and gave the ring back right then and there. I was stunned.

The next day her mother phoned my wedding and said she understood the wedding was off and that she didn't blame her daughter one bit.

I'm practically in a state of shock over this. What did I say wrong? Should I try to patch things up?—D. R.

A "patch job" won't do. This needs galvanizing. To begin with, most states require a blood-test before a couple can get a marriage license. If your girl doesn't know this, it's time she learned.

A physical check-up as a matter of routine is good sense. A girl who would consider such a suggestion an insult is more than "protected." She is ignorant. Should the two of you get together again, and marriage is in the picture once more, prepare to educate her from alpha to omega.

Capt. Gurnee, Family Leave For West Coast

Capt. and Mrs. Paul L. Gurnee and their four sons, Paul, Jr., Peter, Christopher and Thomas left today for California after a 3-week visit with his parents. Mr. and Mrs. Lester Gurnee, 828 W. Franklin street. The family will visit Mrs. Gurnee's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Koerner in Glendale.

Canvas Can Be Made Waterproof

BY ROGER C. WHITMAN

Question: I would like to know the formula for waterproofing canvas.

Answer: To waterproof canvas, paint with a solution of one pound of shaved paraffin in a gallon of turpentine or clear kerosene. Paraffin will dissolve more quickly when the solvent is hot. Do not heat turpentine or kerosene over an open fire, but put container in a pail of hot water. Do not use this mixture for the canvas top of an automobile; it will dissolve rubber cement in the material. To waterproof auto top, rub soft beeswax on and allow car to stand in hot sun. With heating, canvas will, in time, absorb the beeswax. Paraffin can be used instead of beeswax.

Tar Stains

Question: How can I remove tar from work garments?

Answer: Rub crude creosote on the tar spots to dissolve the tar. The yellow smear left can be washed out with soap and water. You can also use lard or a vegetable shortening; then launder or dry clean.

Natural Oak Finish

Question: We are building a new home with oak doors, cabinets and trim. We want to obtain a natural wood appearance without varnish and stain. What do you suggest?

Answer: Your local paint dealer should have a lacquer-type material that will effect little change in the color of the wood; it does not have a high gloss finish. For more luster, apply a paste wax.

Calif. and early in February will fly to Formosa, where Capt. Gurnee will be stationed for the next two years.

Mrs. Charles Tubbs, Mrs. Matt Endres and Mrs. Wayne Culbertson have returned to Appleton after a 3-week vacation in Los Angeles, Calif. and Mexico. While on the west coast, the women attended the Tournament of Roses festivities.

They visited with former Appletonians, the Robert Gillettes, Robert Tubbs, Terry Oliver, Mrs. George Hoh, the Olive Jr., Peter, Christopher and Smiths and the Bruce Culbertsons.

Culbertson on Bridge

By Ely Culbertson

There are some bidding situations that virtually defy reasonable analysis, and whatever course the player decides to take is open to after-the-fact criticism. Most of these cases involve freak hands — in short, the sort of hand West held below in a very provocative situation.

East, dealer.
Neither side vulnerable.
East-West 30 on score

S-8 5 3
H-A J 10 4
D-A J 9 3
C-8 7

WEST
S-8 5 3
H-K Q 8 6 5 2 H-7
D-7 2
C-A K Q 5 4

EAST
S-K J 9 7 6 4 2
H-10 9 8 7 6 5 4 3 2
D-10 9 8 7 6 5 4 3 2
C-10 9 8 7 6 5 4 3 2

This was the bidding at the "experts' table" in New York's most celebrated bridge club:

East South West North
3 S 4 D D'ble Pass
Pass Pass

It is easy to scoff at West's double of four diamonds, on the grounds that he had nowhere near the security usually needed for the double of a less-than-game contract, but the hard fact is that West had a knot-tie problem. On the one side, West realized fully that his partner's spade preemptive did not promise defensive tricks, with this fact particularly pointed up by the East-West part-score, but it was asking a lot of West, not to take any action on his holding, and there was good reason to think that the double of four diamonds was the safest action available.

Void as he was of spades, there was certainly a probability that East would take at least one trick in that suit, and West had every reason to feel that he himself had the hearts and clubs under excellent control.

On top of all this was the good possibility that South had stretched his bid because of the score.

Actually, the four-diamond doubled contract was made, giving North-South a game, but the interesting part is that it could have been defeated, whereas East-West couldn't have made any higher contract (including five clubs) against proper defense. West opened the club queen, and East might have played the jack, to indicate possession of the ten. Then West could have led a small club, and a spade return would have led to the contract's defeat. But East played the club three on the first trick, and West shifted to hearts. After that, the defenders were out of luck.

Lipstick Colors Boost Morale

By Marian Matthews

New lipstick colors are being developed all the time. Each season sees a crop of different shades all keyed to new fashions and their colors. If you haven't changed your shade of lipstick since last fall, this is the time to switch to a lively bright shade. Like a new hat, it can help chase away your midwinter blues.

Select a lipstick color keyed to your complexion, for day or evening wear and for your wardrobe colors. It must be a lipstick formulated with long-lasting color but sufficiently emollient to be kind to the lips.

This all - important cosmetic should be applied carefully. Don't hurry as you draw your lipline—particularly if it requires a subtle alteration to make it more flattering. Work in a good light; apply lipstick as directed blotting it or not as required.

Brush Helps

A lipstick brush is of tremendous help if you must draw a lipline other than the natural one. It usually takes practice to use proficiently but once you master it you won't want to give it up. This method is also an economical one for you can dip the brush into the very last bit of lipstick, getting down beyond the base.

For flattery right now the red shades of lipstick are excellent since they help bring a glow to the whole complexion. Some of the pink tones also are lovely.

If you prefer the coral tones with some orange you'll be right in fashion for spring when many of the yellow and orange courtier colors will be worn with new fashions. They'll take to these shades with perfection.

Young Wives Club Has Problem in Staging 'World Without Men'

St. Albans, England — A severe outbreak of motherhood in the Young Wives club of St. Michael's church has jeopardized plans to stage an amateur play called "World Without Men."

One after another of the 16 club members had to beg off from taking part in the play. At the moment it seems impossible to muster the necessary cast of 17 women.

One member's pet dog, which was to have appeared in the show, also had to be excused. She is expecting pups.

Ike Resents Gavin's Outspoken Army Role

BY STEWART ALSOP

Washington — Human motives are always mixed, and long as Eisenhower was president, there may have been personal motives in Lt. Gen. James Gavin's decision to resign from the army post. But there were other reasons for Gavin's decision to resign. One way to understand the reasons is to go back and examine the photographs which appeared in the newspapers and magazines of the parade in the red army in Moscow Nov. 7, the 40th anniversary of the Bolshevik revolution. With the inevitably meant Gavin could space satellites already launched, all sorts of new surprises were anticipated. When the Soviets failed to hit the moon with a hydrogen bomb, or bring the dog Laika down alive on Red square, there was a certain sense of anti-climax, and the parade was billed as "unsensational." But to a professional infantry soldier like Gavin, the parade was by no means unsensational. In virtually every category the ground warfare weapons of the Soviets were superior to anything which will not be delivered until 1950. The tactical missiles displayed by the Russians were clearly both more powerful and more mobile than anything in the American forces. The Soviets even have new, lightweight rifles and other infantry weapons, which render their individual soldiers far more mobile than American troops. Need Foot Soldiers In short, the Soviet ground troops are unquestionably far better equipped than their American or NATO counterparts. The story does not end there. As Gavin said, there were 27 divisions in the American army when he came to Washington, and there are 15 now. What he did not say is that only nine of these divisions—a ridiculous number for a great power—are fully equipped and combat-ready. The Gaither report, the Rockefeller fund report, and all other competent authorities have stressed that the ability to fight limited wars is as important an element in the world power-balance as the ability to fight suicidal all-out nuclear wars. Yet throughout the presidency of that product of the army, Dwight D. Eisenhower, the army has been the pentagon's stepchild. It may be charged that the army leaders—notably Gavin himself—have been too eager to expand the army's resources on such things as space platforms. It may also be charged—with justice—that the army's proportion of men to combat units is still much too high. Yet if one examines such facts as those listed above, it is easy to understand Gavin's despair, which is shared by many other dedicated officers. For the rest of us, it might be well to remember the world has not seen its last infantry battle, and to remember also Gen. Gavin's warning: "These are your sons and brothers. We didn't bring them into the army to die. If anyone is to die, we want it to be the other guy."

S. Alsop
Gavin's outspoken role in the army's behalf.
